NO. 113—SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1930

TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

OVER 300 CONVICTS BURNED TO DEATH IN JAIL

Articles of Treaty Of Naval Conference Signed by Delegates

Certain Sections as Completed Will Only Affect Great Britain, United States and Japan—Provides for Limitations in Construction, Battleship Holiday and Submarine Tonnage

Work of Parley Ends as Powers Affix Signatures

LONDON, April 22.—The Naval Treaty signed at St. James Palace, carrying forward the work of the Washington Naval Conference, prescribes limitation and reduction of naval armament for three signatory nations and agreement on some phases of the naval disarmament problem for the five nations participating in the conference here. The three limiting nations are the United States, Japan and Great Britain. France and Italy did not enter the limitation section of the treaty and signed only those sections referring to "humanisation" of submarine, a capital ship holiday and certain other technical phases of the problem.

The treaty contains twenty-six articles and a preamble. The first article deals with the undertaking of the contracting parties not to exercise the rights they acquired by the Washington treaty of 1922 in the matter of capital ship replacement and tonnage; this article in effect promulgating the so-called capital ship holiday for the life of the treaty. Relinquishment of these rights is without prejudice to the right of replacing any ship which may be lost accidentally, or is without prejudice to the right of France and Italy to build replacement tonnage, as yet unbuild, which the Washington treaty entitled them to build in 1927 and 1929.

SCRAPPING WARSHIPS
In the second article of the treaty the United States agrees to rid itself of the battleships Florida, Utah and either the Arkansas or the Wyoming, while Great Britain abandons the Benbow, the Iron Duke, the Malaya, the Tiger, and the Japan scraps the Hyel.

The manner of scrapping these ships, unless they are used as targets, is prescribed in the treaty, which also provides the time limits for scrapping.

The United States may keep the Arkansas or the Wyoming for training purposes, for which Great Britain may also retain the Iron Duke and Japan the Hyel, subject to conditions defined in the treaty.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS
The third article gives a new definition of aircraft carriers, replacing that of the Washington Treaty and conferring the designation of aircraft carrier on any surface vessel of whatever displacement which is used exclusively for carrying aircraft and constructed so that aircraft can be launched from it and landed thereon.

No capital ship existing April 1, of this year, may be fitted with a landing deck.

The fourth article prohibits acquisition or construction of any aircraft carrier of 10,000 tons or less mounting guns above 8.1-inch caliber. Armament on carriers is limited to articles 9 and 10 of the Washington Treaty.

Believed Dies From Drinking Poison Liquor

WENATCHEE, Wash., April 21.—Okanagan County officers today were investigating the death, at Omak yesterday, of Mrs. L. G. George, twenty-seven, who, officers said, had been drinking poison liquor.

Mrs. George attended a dance Saturday night with her husband, County Health Officer L. S. Dewey said. After the dance, she went to the home of her sister and immediately became violently ill, dying afterward. Samples of the contents of her stomach have been sent away for chemical analysis.

REPUBLICANS IN IRELAND KEEP EASTER

Hold Celebrations of Anniversary of Riots in Dublin in 1916 on Easter Monday

ONLY REPUBLICANS WEAR LILY BADGES

By WILLIAM H. BRADYEN (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 21.—Observance of the fourteenth anniversary of the Easter week rebellion was marked by celebrations all over the Irish Free State. There were the usual prayers and orations at the graves of Republicans killed in the fighting with the English in 1916.

In Dublin a procession, with bands, marched three miles through the streets to the Republican plot in Glasnevin Cemetery. Many of the participants had fought in the position on the historic Easter Monday.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL
In Tipperary, a handsome memorial was unveiled to the thirteen officers and men of the Republican army buried there, the chairman of the County Council of Representatives and the public representative attending the ceremony. In Cork, Siro, Kilgallon, Wexford, Drogheda, Monaghan, and other centres similar demonstrations took place.

There was general participation in the celebrations by various sections, all regarding Easter week as a national glory. Easter lilies were worn as the Republican badge, but almost solely by those who still strive for a republic and repudiate the treaty with Great Britain.

In Northern Ireland republicanism is treated by the Ulster Government as treason, and Easter celebrations were barred there. In Derby police were on guard at the cemetery and prevented the entrance of a crowd of persons, while in Belfast no individuals were admitted to the cemetery. Also, all speech-making was prohibited.

CRISPER WEATHER FAVORS PRAIRIES

High Winds, Accompanied by Scattered Rain, Will Aid Resumption of Seeding

(Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, April 21.—High winds buffeted the Prairies a week-end that brought only a trace of rain. The crisp weather was expected to prompt resumption of seeding in areas where rains have forced a temporary halt. Heaviest rains fell at Red Deer, Alta.; Indian Head, Sask., and Winnipeg.

Precipitation, generally, was abundant. Rainfall averaged about one-fifth of an inch in sections of Central and Northern Alberta, Southern Saskatchewan and Central Manitoba. Red Deer's precipitation, slightly more than half an inch, was by far the most generous overnight. Fair and decidedly cool weather is forecast for the West.

U.S. Paper Speaks Plainly On New Tariff Bill

By KEN CLARK, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 21.—While Congress is making a final desperate rush to clean up its work on the monumental Hawley-Smoot Tariff Bill, critics of that measure vigorously expound their sentiments. "Well," said Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway in his soft Arkansas drawl, "I think the agricultural rates are just a gold brick."

The Baltimore Sun, which has had quite a lot of amusement out of the Hawley-Smoot bill ever since its introduction, lets fly at the duty upon hides and shoes.

"While this is not the most vicious performance in the present tariff revision, it is entitled to serious consideration as the most assinine," the Sun avers, and concludes the Senate and House conferees who put 10 per cent on hides and 30 per cent on shoes have turned a "taxi" making performance which for sheer idocy comes pretty close to establishing a record in a field where competition is always strenuous."

MAHATMA IS OPPOSED TO GIVING WAY

Despite Violence at Chittagong, Says It Is "Sad News," but Campaign Must Go On

SITUATION TENSE IN SOME PLACES

Troops and Auxiliaries Still Out on Search for Raiders of Police Arsenal

(Associated Press)

CALCUTTA, April 21.—Government activities in the Indian situation today centred on pursuit of the insurgent groups which raided the police arsenal of Chittagong Saturday and killed six policemen. Troops and auxiliaries are searching for the raiders.

Reports from Bombay, Madras and Karachi today indicated that an atmosphere of tension pervaded those cities, but only in Karachi was any large scale demonstration staged. It caused no trouble, several hundred women merely marching through the streets carrying pots of contraband salt on their heads.

MUST KEEP FIGHTING
Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Nationalist and father of the civil disobedience movement, remained in Calcutta today. Interviewed regarding the Chittagong incident he said it was "sad news," but added, "however serious the situation becomes there can be no suspension of the fight."

"There can be no retreating of our footsteps," he said. Another important Indian leader was in the picture today in the person of Mahuli Mohammed Yakub, who yesterday presided over the Bombay conference of Indian Moslems. The Moslems of India, he declared, had hitherto left Gandhi and the civil disobedience movement severely alone, would continue to do so, and would not participate in it even if the Hindus conceded all the Moslem demands in connection with the future constitution of India.

Wheat Sags On Mart at Winnipeg

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, Man., April 21.—From the opening gong, when prices receded on the Winnipeg market today. Extensive selling pressure dominated the session, following weakness at Chicago, and the close values ranged 1 1/2 to 3/8 cents below Thursday's preholiday market.

The May future finished the day at $1.08; July, $1.10 7/8, and October, $1.13 7/8 to $1.14. The closing quotations were slightly above the low points of the day.

The demand for cash wheat and coarse grains was insignificant.

One Arrested in Alleged Swindle Of Ford Company

(Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—The State Corporation Department today revealed the arrest of one person in Tacoma, Washington, and search for several others in California in connection with the alleged swindle involving the fraudulent sale of more than $150,000 of stock in the Ford Company of Germany.

Two Companies TO MEET HERE

Reliance and Prudential Insurance Companies Will Have Conferences in Victoria

Popularity of Victoria as a convention centre for insurance companies, already demonstrated this year, is proved by two companies having set gatherings here this Summer.

The Reliance Insurance Company has set its visit for June 16, 17 and 18, with about 100 in attendance, while the Prudential Insurance Company of America will meet July 1, 2 and 3. Both will have headquarters at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Edward Duffield, of Newark, N.J., president of the Prudential Company, will come here for his organization's gathering. There will be 150 delegates in this party.

AIRMEN RESCUED

Warn Exporters To Stop Use of All Warehouses

TORONTO, April 21.—Determined to plug every possible loophole in the Ontario Liquor Control Act, Provincial Police and the Attorney-General's Department have issued a warning to liquor exporters along the Windsor border to empty and discontinue using liquor storage warehouses. Owners of the warehouses in which stocks were found were warned that they must clear "out as soon as possible," or they would be seized.

ENGLISH POET LAUREATE HAS PASSED AWAY

Dr. Robert Bridges Dies at His Home in London at Old Age of Eighty-Six Years

WORKS WELL KNOWN IN ALL COUNTRIES

(Associated Press)
LONDON, April 21.—Dr. Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, died here today.

Dr. Bridges, who had been poet laureate since 1913, was eighty-six years old. His works were well known all over the world.

Dr. Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England since 1913, was regarded in two distinctly different lights by the British people, one as a critic and the other as a poet. He was a man of his work after he assumed the historic position that dates back to the days of Chaucer, and the other commending him for the high-class quality of his work. He was the subject of controversy along those lines from the time he was first mentioned as the successor of Alfred Austin, but when his appointment finally was made by the then Prime Minister Asquith, it was officially announced that it pleased the King to give his approval of the appointment.

Hudson's Bay Co. Asks Dock Space At Ft. Churchill

(Associated Press)

WINNIPEG, Man., April 21.—Application to the Dominion Government for dock space at Port Churchill harbor has been made by the Hudson's Bay Company, it became known here today.

The land set aside by the Government for the future townsite, Hudson's Bay Company formerly had a whaling station and dock. This property was taken over by the Government two years ago. The application for space now being made is to replace what was then expropriated.

The company's extensive operation in northern shipping will centre around Churchill in the future, from both the land east and west of the bay. Additional space will be needed.

Jazz Orchestra Performers Aid Church Opening

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 21.—With a dance orchestra playing a symphonic arrangement of the Pilgrim's Chorus, "Tannhauser," New York's most modern church, housed in a $2,000,000 twenty-three storey apartment hotel, opened its doors to Broadway last night. The Rev. Dr. Edward H. Emmet introduced the orchestra of Paul Specht—a complete jazz orchestra, save for drums—in Manhattan Congregational Church, in the new Manhattan Towers Hotel, at 78th Street and Broadway.

The music was played by two saxophones, a trombone, clarinet, banjo, guitar, violin and piano.

"Not just exactly," said Mr. Specht, "symphonic selections, I think you'd call them."

The orchestra numbers were interspersed with the regular events of the church service—a short sermon, prayers, selections by the choir, and offertory duet. The choir sang typical Easter music.

In addition to the "Tannhauser" music, the orchestra played MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," and "Meditation" from "Thais."

TRAPPED IN WIND-SWEPT FIRE MEN DIE IN CELLS

Disastrous Blaze Sweeps Four Cell Blocks in Prison Yards and Men Are Caught in Tier on Tier—Most Are Killed by the Smoke Rather Than by Fire—Fellow Convicts Do Their Best to Aid in Task of Rescuing Comrades

EYE-WITNESS TELLS STORY OF DISASTER

Scenes Within Prison Walls Almost Baffle Description, and Are Told in Great Detail

YARD OF PRISON IS LIKE BATTLEFIELD

By R. F. CRONIN, JR. (Ohio Associated Press Correspondent)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—Death, spread by the fire fend, in the tinder-like cell blocks of Ohio penitentiary here tonight, reigned supreme in the prison yard, where the bodies of at least 200 men lay stiff and silent, victims of one of the worst disasters in the history of the state.

A sudden burst of flame, followed by a dense cloud of smoke, heralded the beginning of the catastrophe. The flames first appeared in a cell block where a new structure within the prison walls was being erected. Quickly the fire spread toward tiers of cells occupied by convicts.

WIND HELPS FLAMES
The wind conspired with the flames to spread death and soon many prisoners, trapped in the cell blocks, were beyond human aid.

As the prisoners and guards fought heroically to rescue the trapped men, the scene within the prison walls was one of utter disorder. Convicts still in their cells feared the fire would reach them and then sent up a mighty crescendo of screams.

Within a few minutes scores of convicts not locked in were staggering on the dump grates in the prison yard, hustling boats that ordinarily are buzzing around the export docks, darting here and there with loads of liquor destined for the "spot" on the United States side of the line.

Stillness reigned supreme in the warehouses for months and months have nightly resounded with the busy bustle of telephones, the rumble of trucks, and the purring of motors in boats lashed to the low level docks.

ORDERS OBEYED

The orders of Sir Henry Drayton and the Liquor Control Board have been observed, and deserted are the hives of industry. Echoes of emptiness have replaced the thrud of cases of liquor and the tinkle of bottles.

Within the past five days the warehouses have been cleared of their contents. Some of the liquor has gone across the river to its destination, some has fallen into the hands of the United States border patrol, and some has been shipped back to distilleries and breweries.

SEEDING EARLY

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, April 21.—Seeding is early in the West this year, according to Mr. J. M. McKay, general agricultural agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway. Increase in pre-harvest acreage amounting to 31 per cent over that a year ago is indicated in reports from 95 per cent of the farming communities in the West along the railway line.

COAST TRAVEL TO BE LARGE THIS SUMMER

(Associated Press)

"The tourist traffic to the Pacific Coast will be larger than ever," is the statement made by Mr. Donald Dole, of the Automobile Club of Southern California, who arrived here on Sunday afternoon, leaving again yesterday afternoon for Seattle on his way South.

Mr. Dole, who embraces within his duties the charge of the mapping of all the roads which his club covers, was here accompanied by Mr. Hugh Willard, who is associated with him in this work, and by Mrs. Willard.

The advance guard of the Summer tourists are now beginning to come into Southern California, says Mr. Dole. His information is that this will be followed by an unprecedented number during the Summer. He does not believe that the stock troubles will affect the situation appreciably.

"The losses in large measure were imaginary," thinks Mr. Dole. He says that the losses were, in the great majority of cases, what "might have been made" rather than in actualities.

The trip of the southern automobile club officials was made for the purpose of resurveying the Pacific Highway in anticipation of the coming season, and also to cover the Redwood Highway, which is undergoing important alterations. While in Victoria they covered a part of the main roads out of the city for the use of the members of the club. The organization embraces some 140,000 members.

(Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., April 21.—More than 300 men confined in Ohio penitentiary here met death tonight when a disastrous fire swept four cell blocks in the ill-fated tiers of cells. More than one hundred others were affected seriously by smoke, and it was feared more would die. Regular army troops, national guards and prison guards and Columbus police were on duty in the prison late tonight attempting to maintain order among more than 1,000 convicts who were loose in the prison yards and who, it is believed, had set several fires in the prison cotton mills, had cut fire hose and threatened firemen.

QUICK REIGNS TODAY WHERE BOTTLES RANG

Warehouses on the Detroit River Front Are Now Silent and Empty of Their Contents

EXPORTERS CLAIM LAWS ARE OBEYED
WINNIPEG, Ont., April 21.—Comparative quiet reigns along the Detroit River front tonight. Stilled are the busy, bustling boats that ordinarily are buzzing around the export docks, darting here and there with loads of liquor destined for the "spot" on the United States side of the line.

INQUIRY ON FRUIT NEARS CONCLUSION

Mr. W. Sanford Evans returned to Victoria on Sunday, and is now entering upon the task of completing his report on the subject of the fruit situation, with suggestions as to the solution of the problems which the fruit grower and the Government have to face in the Interior irrigated sections. It is his expectation that he will complete the report before returning to Winnipeg.

Just how long this will take Mr. Evans says is a difficult question to answer. The situation that must be reconciled, and it is impossible to say how long this will take.

CONFEE AT GRAND FORKS
On the way to the coast Mr. Evans stayed off at Grand Forks, where in company with the Minister of Lands, Hon. F. P. Burden, and Dr. W. H. Gaddes, colonization commissioner, the situation with respect to the irrigation district there was discussed with those interested, and with the Board of Trade of Grand Forks, and representatives of the council, all of whom are concerned in seeing that a proper adjustment is made.

The Grand Forks district is included in the areas which have formed the basis of the report of

SAYS LIBRARY IS PROBLEM

DR. HELEN STEWART
ADDRESSES B. C. GRADUATE
NURSES ASSOCIATION

Question Just Beginning to Assume Importance, Says Speaker—Cooperation Necessary

Federated service is the basis of the nursing library of the future, Dr. Helen Stewart, director of the first British Columbia rural library demonstration under the Carnegie Corporation, informed the British Columbia Graduate Nurses Association in the address on "Nursing Libraries," which she gave at the annual banquet at the Empress Hotel last evening. The staff was attended by about a hundred and fifty nurses from all over the province. The president, Miss Mary Campbell, R.N., presided over the evening. The tables were artistically decorated with mauve tulips. Miss Gregory Allen, Victoria, being in charge of the details, and the enjoyable musical programme was given by Miss Parfitt and Mr. N. Parfitt, who sang "Come to the Fair" as a duet, and Mr. W. Green, the former giving a cornet solo, accompanied by the latter, who also played for the vocalists.

Dr. Stewart reviewed the history of nursing libraries from the time of their inception in Victorian days, chiefly at the instigation of Florence Nightingale, with the idea of providing a cultural recreation for nurses at a time when the profession was considered rather disreputable and when it was in need of the added prestige which reputation for good reading might establish.

The tradition of this earlier day had rather affected the character of nursing libraries down to within recent times. Financing of the nursing library was still an incidental matter and in very few cases was the hospital library or the nursing school library considered in the regular budget of the hospital. It had yet to become a consideration in the making up of the teaching schedule and a conscious part of the whole policy of the hospital as an institution. This was due to much amiss in the aid days when nursing was merely a craft, but now that it had become a profession things were different.

"The nursing library is just beginning to assume an important place where it must be discussed as a real live issue in the profession," Dr. Stewart maintained. The high standards of the profession were forcing the question to the front. Just as a college with a reputable standing should have (1) enough books to go around, (2) should know the field of required literature, (3) should be interested in a scientific and up-to-date way, and (4) should have a budgeting system based on its requirements, so should the nursing library.

The nursing profession should go at the question methodically. First, there should be co-operation. There should be little for any one training school to go at the problem individually. They must make a tabulation of their present books, instead of working along the haphazard guesswork lines of the past. At the present time one nursing establishment was ignorant of the next possessed in the way of books. Also there must be a definite understanding to commence with the meaning of the terms "recreation" books as distinguished from volumes to be considered in connection with curriculum studies. The whole field of nursing literature would have to be canvassed and indexed in order that, in considering literature, there should be no duplication of what supplies it had to draw upon, and how to procure them. In addition to a problem for the whole profession, there must be a problem for the individual branches of the profession to work upon with federated effort.

No one school could organize such a problem nor list all the available books on the subject.

This district embraced in its original form some 2,700 acres. Of this acreage there has been a considerable part which has reverted to the Crown owing to the inability of the holders to make ends meet. The residents on the land are anxious to know further on the plan of Mr. Evans to base the payments on "ability to pay" rather than on the actual original costs of the schemes. This was the object of the conference which has been concluded at Grand Forks. Mr. Evans was not in a position to say what the outcome of this was as the matter was really one for the Minister of Lands to consider. Mr. Burden was not in the capital yesterday.

CONVICTS GET LOOSE

Later in the night some of the convicts cornered in dining-halls again got loose in the yards, and at 10:15 p.m. it was estimated that about 2,000 of the more than 4,000 men in the prison were milling about in the enclosure.

Fire department officials believed all the fires incendiary. The first fire on the I and K cell block roofs was near where men had been working during the day with an oil preparation to repair the roof. This it was believed, was used to start the blaze. Other places, fired with oil-soaked cloth, included the Catholic chapel, cotton mill and woolen mill.

Convicts slugged three firemen and injured another while the men were attempting to get a line of hose on the flames. All four injured firemen needed the attention of a doctor.

as popular with the public as those of Rudyard Kipling and several others who had been mentioned as possibilities. High critics, however, held that the excellent quality of Dr. Bridges' verses more than compensated for their modesty. Mr. W. B. Yeats, the Irish poet who was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1923, some years ago characterized Dr. Bridges as "a poet of living poets, and as years passed by English authorities stood by that estimate. Another characteristic of his verse was "England's one classical poet."

Holding some opinions with regard to poetical forms and expounding them in his lectures, Dr. Bridges was a most radical. Dr. Bridges had the courage to uphold his views and defend them against his critics. One habit for which he has been widely criticized was the use of Greek accents to determine the pronunciation of certain syllables in his verse. He defended this practice in a note at the end of his masque, "Demeter," saying:

"I do not myself see that English accentuation differs much from the Greek. If a consistent phonetic spelling of English were to be introduced, the syllables in a word would be quite unrecognizable without accents, and that the Greek accents would serve us very well to our traditional pronunciations."

ADVOCATED CORRECTNESS
Dr. Bridges was an ardent advocate of correct pronunciation and a modified spelling. He maintained that English prosody depends upon the number of stressed syllables in a line and not upon the number of syllables, and that poetry should follow the rules of natural speech. He was a rather inspiring example to the author who believes in himself and who is content to wait for recognition without making an effort to obtain it. For years he published his poems in limited and modest editions. Gradually they gained recognition among a small and select circle, which began to widen until London newspapers took an interest in his writings. This resulted in his works being printed in a form that made them available to the general public.

In addition to a number of short poems, Dr. Bridges' early works included "The Growth of Love," "Prometheus," "The Fire-bringer," which he published privately in 1883 at Oxford, and which he styled "A mask in the Greek manner." Two years later he produced "Eros and Psyche, a Version of Apuleius." His principal critical works are "Millions of Prosody," published in 1893, and "John Keats and his Critics," produced two years later. He also was author of eight poetic plays.

WAR POEMS
Although Dr. Bridges wrote comparatively little poetry during the war, he injected into his war verse a verity which hitherto had not characterized his work. His war poems included "Thou Carleiss," "England," "Awake," "A Note on the Kitchen," and two bearing upon the participation of the United States in the war. One was "To the United States of America," and the other, "To President Wilson." He also wrote verses to the Americans on their Thanksgiving Day celebration in England in 1918.

After the war there was considerable criticism of the poet laureate because he had failed to be inspired by various national events and celebrations. His attitude was the subject of interrogations in Parliament. One member of the House of Commons urged that the poet yond human help he was quickly covered with a blanket and the rescuer passed along to another victim. Soon police reserves and firemen were on the scene and within a short time fire lines were established and water was being played upon the giant flames, and as they swept heavenward from the west side of the west cell tiers, then soldiers came to augment the guards both within the prison and on the outside.

WORKED ON STRICKEN
Doctors by the score followed, and they were rushed into the prison yard to work on the stricken. Most of these men were clad in their white hospital clothes, and as they made their way through the long lines of unconscious and dead, working heroically to revive some of the victims, the onlookers were reminded of scenes on a battlefield.

At least 600 convicts were loose in the smoke-filled prison yard, and he is to their credit, they created no disorder, but labored hard to aid in the rescue work and succor their stricken fellow-prisoners who were trapped in the ill-fated cell blocks.

The hospital produced many tragic scenes. Fifty unconscious men were dragged in and the doctors and attendants gave what aid they could. As a man died convicts removed his body to the basement, and within a very short time the hospital floor was covered with victims.

CONVICTS HELD
For once in the history of the penitentiary, convicts handled ropes, axes, hammers and other rescue equipment which in other days would have been kept from them. There ran a negro convict with a piece of white cloth over his nose. He carried a rope and a hook and made valiant efforts to throw the hook into a barred window. Finally he succeeded and soon he was shirking up the rope in an effort to gain entrance to the burning section.

Another convict carried a sledge hammer and made an assault on a locked door. Only in the east cell blocks, where are confined 1,000 men, including the "bad men" of the prison, did convicts cause any disorder. Here they shouted and screamed and hammered on cell doors. Someone reported that the key to this lock had been lost. When the chief warden could not find the key he took in sledge hammers to loose the men if the flames threatened the block.

QUIET REIGNS TODAY WHERE BOTTLES RANG

On some railway sidings at the docks there are freight cars with seals intact, showing that the contents have not been disturbed since delivery was made today, and the exporters declare the seals will remain untouched until it is possible to load direct from the cars into the boats, which will move rapidly away and so keep the "in transit" regulation unbroken.

GUARDS WATCHING
Guards are watching the sars so that there will be no interference with the plans of the exporters that the law will be observed.

"Come and see four yourself," said the proprietor of one of the large export docks on the river front. "Our warehouse is empty and so are the others. We are ready to welcome the police at any time they desire to come, for we have rigidly observed the regulations."

IRISH FREE STATE MAKING PROGRESS

OTTAWA, Ont., April 21.—Irish Free State is making steady progress toward the goal of prosperity, according to Dr. E. B. MacNeill, professor of history at the National University of Dublin, Ireland, and brother of Hon. James MacNeill, Governor-General of the Irish Free State. The country's recent financial difficulties are only a passing phase of the general fluctuating conditions throughout the world, Dr. MacNeill said.

Dr. MacNeill is in the capital to deliver the only lecture in Canada of a brief speaking tour of North America.

near the crest of the hill, many car owners arriving at the scene a full hour before the impressive service began. Late comers parked their cars along the roadway beneath the hill, the occupants climbing to the crest of the mountain with the crowds transported by bus lines and street cars from all sections of the city and its surrounding districts.

A noteworthy feature of the service was the great number of young people attending, fully half of those present being girls and boys of school and college age.

Promptly at 7 o'clock, the service was opened by Rev. Clem Davies, D.D. Leading the singing and the responses was the choir of the City Temple. Conducted by Mr. W. H. Hickling, the City Temple Orchestra accompanied the choir, which was under the direction of Mr. George A. Downard. Acoustic facilities showed great improvement over previous years, the shifting of the pulpit to a central point in the natural amphitheatre situated just eastward of the bandstand being a decided advantage, while the battery of amplifiers, distributed in commanding positions on the hillside, helped considerably.

TRAFFIC WELL HANDLED

Arrangements made by the police to handle the traffic were all that could be desired. In every way the members of the force co-operated most effectively.

The Episcopal form of service opened with the singing of the Doxology, followed by the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Dr. Davies then gave the call to confession, responded to by the congregation. The congregation sang the hymn, "Up From the Grave He Arose."

The responsive reading was the description of the discovery of the empty tomb by Mary Magdalene and her meeting with the risen Lord, as told in St. John's Gospel. The Apostles' Creed was recited, being followed by the Gloria Patri and the hymn of the hymns, "Come Ye Saints, Look Here and Wonder."

The Temple Choir then rendered the Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, the splendid anthem being followed by the hymn, "The Day of Resurrection."

URGES CHURCH ATTENDANCE

During the course of the service Dr. Davies said it had been suggested to him that the reason for the good attendance at these services was because so many stayed away from church during the year. They felt they ought to do some penance. The congregation was urged to attend the parish churches of the city and cheer the heads of parish clergymen by crowding the edifices situated near their own homes for the Easter morning church service especially.

THE ADDRESS

In the course of his address Dr. Davies said: "The church's message at Easter is: That personality is the most victorious element in the universe and will live beyond the tomb."

IMMORTAL PERSONALITY

"The essential and primary thing about Jesus was that he glorified men. All other philosophers and sages talked men down, but he lifted them up. He lifted up himself and then cried, 'I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me.' Wherever he went he lifted up men. He made them believe in themselves. He said, 'The Kingdom of God is within you. Now (already) are ye sons of God and it does not yet appear what ye shall be, but we shall be like God.' He tried to uncover the eternal God-likeness in every man. He knew it could not be done in a moment, in the span of a brief lifetime. While He Himself lived gloriously His thirty-three years He was one apart."

"Christ knew that a brief lifetime here is insufficient to complete the Godlike edifice in man's soul. Life is all too brief. During His own short sojourn, however, He was an example of the divine in human personality such as will be forever unsurpassed on this planet. The whole life of the human race has been changed because of the impact of His personality."

VALUE AS IMMORTALS

"Christ made us believe in man, in the Kingdom of God, in the coming reign of righteousness on earth, in human brotherhood, and eternal life. He made us see the greatness inherent in the Prodigal. All his wonderful stories centered in the value of a man's soul. He found the gems and jewels in the despised tax-gatherer, the woman of Samaria, Mary Magdalene, the haughty churchman, Nicodemus, as well as the shifting, impetuous Simon. Likewise the Christian gospel reaches out to all men with the same thought: that God is in men; that down in the human heart lies that germ of 'God-essence' which will live forever. When the Christian church is true to herself and to her Master she brings every system to Christ's acid test: 'What is our civilization? Religion, industry, commerce and industrialism doing to man's personality?'"

OUR MORNING TRUTH

"Now we come to the application of our morning truth. Christ has uncovered personality. The question we face is: Does personality end at death? The apostles on the first Easter morn cried out 'Death hath no more dominion over Him; it was not possible that He should be held of it.' We often wonder what happened to make those disciples so certain that Jesus was still alive. But why bother ourselves about physical details of our Lord's resurrection and miss the meaning of the glory of immortality? The living Christ is the church's glorious assumption; He is regnant in human hearts; the belief that He lives is ineradicable in the minds of men."

"The physical details of survival after death should not concern us. We cannot picture the unpictureable. God will provide for us. When we entered this world, we came into life with a cherishing environment awaiting us; loving parents and relatives; affectionate surroundings enfolding us. Jesus said 'I go to prepare for you. I will receive you unto Myself.' Where I am, you will be also."

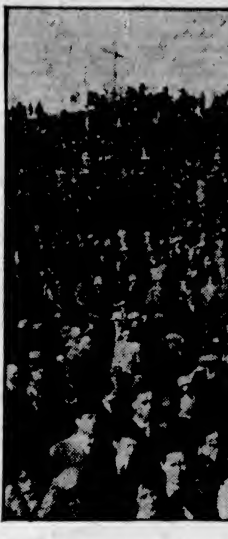

BUT A NEW BIRTH

"When we face the transition from this mortal plane to another it will be but another birth. We shall not stop because our mortal body is perishing."

B.C. TEACHERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Will Hear Several Important Addresses on Education and Its Kindred Problems

VANCOUVER, April 21.—With delegates representing practically every section of the province attending, and an agenda which includes addresses by many speakers of prominence, the fourteenth annual convention of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation will open Tuesday. The sessions will continue until Thursday afternoon.

The convention will have a distinguished visitor, Sir John Adams, of London, who will give several addresses.

Elevated to the knighthood in 1925, Sir John is one of the leading educationists in the English-speaking world. For twenty years principal of the London Day Training College, he was also professor of education in the University of London, of which he is now emeritus professor. He is author of a number of books on education.

The executive will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight, in Kitsilano School, when hotel registrations and arrangements for social and theatre parties will be made. Registration will commence at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday, and the opening general session will be held an hour later in the school auditorium.

Mayor W. H. Malkin will officially open the convention and Ira Dilworth, of Victoria, vice-president of the federation, will reply to the address of welcome. Other speakers will be: Chairman W. J. Baird, of the Vancouver School Board; Mr. C. B. Leroy, president of the Provincial Teachers' Association; and Mrs. E. Mahon, president of the Provincial Parent-Teacher Association.

Addresses Tuesday morning will be given by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, who will speak on "Educational Legislation in British Columbia"; Mr. P. H. Sheffield, provincial inspector, Nelson, who will speak on "The Education of the New Canadian"; With Special Reference to the Doukhobors; Sir John Adams, whose topic will be "The Solidarity of the Teaching Craft."

Police Measures Against Reds of Berlin Drastic

LEIPZIG, Germany, April 21.—Hard-handed police measures were in force today to prevent outbreak of Communist rioting, which yesterday cost three persons their lives and brought injury to others.

A checkup today showed two persons dead and one Communist dead, four Communists in hospitals, three policemen seriously injured and six others injured slightly. One of the policemen is in a precarious condition.

About thirty thousand Communists gathered on the Augustus Platz, a spacious square, for a convention of Communist youth. The fighting started when police put a cordon about the square.

DIRECTOR OF RAILWAYS IN JAMAICA HERE

Mr. J. Powter Is Visitor to City in Course of Examination of Canadian Railways

The Jamaican Government Railway is operated on the same dispatcher and similar systems as those in Canada and the United States. On that account Mr. J. Powter, C.B.E., director of railways, is in the city, in the course of a study of railway methods in Canada.

Trained in the British block system, which was in operation both in Nigeria and in Trinidad, where he was located before going to Kingston four and a half years ago, Mr. Powter had to rearrange his views in operating a line under different conditions.

The two branches which operate from Kingston to the Northwest and Northeast Coasts have to cross four altitudes, higher than the Albern summit near Arrowsmith station, but under extraordinary conditions. Three per cent grades, with seventeen-degree curves, are frequent, and in 215 miles of track, over fifty miles require guard rails on account of the steep character of the climbs in short distances. Railway men will appreciate the difficulties when it is explained that standard gauge rails are used, and that some of the inclines are so steep that only six wagons can be hauled up the hills.

Bananas are the staple crop supplying freight for the railway, the ideal climate making them the chief form of export. Again, as they cannot effectively be handled by motor truck, owing especially to the congested approaches to the docks at Kingston, and rail cars can handle 100 bananas at a time, compared to about 150 on a motor truck, the banana is a lifesaver for the railway, which is faced with severe competition in freight trucks in other commodities of the island.

While the rugged character of the country presents many difficulties in operating a railway, Mr. Powter says Jamaica has many residential attractions.

VETERANS WILL ATTEND BANQUET ON ST. GEORGE'S DAY

An outstanding feature of the banquet to be held on St. George's Day, in the Empress Hotel, on Wednesday next, will be the presence of a number of veterans who fought in some of the greatest battles for the Empire. These old campaigners will be the guests of the St. George's Society, under whose auspices the banquet is being put on, and they will wear their decorations.

Mr. Joseph Moore, a famous tenor singer from South Africa, who is now visiting in the city, will sing a series of old English songs. The banquet, which will commence at 6:30 p.m., is open for all men visiting in the city, and patrons are requested to secure their tickets in advance at Fletcher's Music Store, or at the office of the Empress Hotel.

Company Refers To Acquisition In This City

Last Summer the Enamel and Heating Products, Limited, took over the old-established business here of the Albion Stove Works, as from September 1.

In the first report of the company, just issued, it is stated that the assets and undertaking of that company have now been transferred and incorporated in this company. The acquisition of this plant will enable the company, the report says, to manufacture a considerable portion of the heavier lines formerly shipped from Sackville, thereby saving a considerable amount in freight charges, as well as putting the company in a position to give exceptional service to British Columbia customers.

GLIDING INSTITUTE WANTED

The French Air Ministry has been asked by two prominent aeronautical associations to establish a gliding institute. They promise to assist the project in the way of finance, counsel and material. The institute would determine the most effective types of gliders, the best fields for gliding operations and other questions connected with the sport.

DIARRHOEA SOUR STOMACH GAS CRAMPS

There can be no question as to the supremacy of Nerviline for these disorders; it acts promptly, even twenty drops of Nerviline in sweetened water gives immediate relief.

Too Ill to Leave Home Restored Quickly by Nerviline

Mr. A. E. Archer of Chelsea, writes: "As a boy I was accustomed to take Nerviline for pains in my stomach but never realized its true value until this summer. I had an attack of diarrhoea and was so ill I couldn't leave the house. I sent for a bottle of Nerviline and took a dose every hour during the morning. It restored me quickly. I use Nerviline now as a preventative of summer complaint and it works satisfactorily. My wife also has derived very special results in stomach trouble from Nerviline which I recommended highly."

ELKS WILL HOLD NOVEL FUNCTION

"A Night in Agua Caliente" to Be Observed on Thursday Next—Varied Programme

"A Night in Agua Caliente" will be fittingly observed by Victoria Elks next Thursday evening, April 24, in the Elks' clubrooms, Weller Block, Douglas Street.

The novel entertainment will open promptly at 9 o'clock and the revel will continue until 1 a.m. A fine varied programme has been arranged, with a number of surprises to be introduced during the evening. One of the features will be the airplane races, which promise to create much excitement. Refreshments will be provided.

The Victoria Elks have held "nights in the Klondike" in the Yukon and in "Tijuana" and all these functions have been greatly enjoyed and largely attended. It is expected that Thursday night's function "in Agua Caliente" will prove the banner event of the series.

The committee of members of Victoria Lodge No. 2, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which is working energetically to make the entertainment an outstanding success, consists of Mr. David Croston (chairman), and Messrs. Harry Latham, Harry Edwards, Douglas Gregson, Edgar Jones, Joseph Levy, Robert Malcolm, Stanley Shrimpton, William Knowles and Stephen Kelway.

LORD BYNG STATED TO LEAVE POLICE

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, April 21.—The Daily Telegraph declared it learns upon "reliable authority" that General Lord Byng of Vinny, former Governor-General of Canada, has tendered his resignation as chief commissioner of the London Metropolitan Police and head of Scotland Yard. Lord Byng is still in South Africa, where he went with Lady Byng about two months ago with the object of recruiting his health following a long illness. His recovery has not been as rapid as anticipated, states The Telegraph.

CHARACTER IS EDUCATION'S PRIMARY AIM

Dr. Norwood Tells Winnipeg Canadian Club Object Today Is to Prevent Materialism

ENGLAND WORKING IN NEW DIRECTION

(Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG, April 21.—Impressed with the vastness of Canada and the hospitality of its people, the party of British public school headmasters, touring the Dominion, spent Sunday in Winnipeg.

Studying Canadian educational systems, the party, under the leadership of Dr. Cyril Norwood, headmaster of Harrow, who arrived in Winnipeg Saturday, in advance of his colleagues, is en route to the Pacific Coast, and last night left for Regina. The stay was purely social, but on the return eastward journey the headmasters will stop here for a full day as the guests of local educationalists.

Most of the headmasters attended Easter morning service at All Saints Church, where Dr. Norwood read the lessons. In the afternoon a reception was accorded the visitors by Professor W. F. Osborne, of the University of Manitoba, and in the evening Mr. James Richardson entertained at dinner, which was attended by Lieutenant-Governor J. D. McCrea, Premier John Bracken, Hon. Robert Rogers and other city notables.

WOULD SAVE CIVILIZATION

Dr. Norwood addressed the members of the Canadian Club Saturday.

England is working towards a national system of education to prevent materialism, which, were it followed in Canada and the United States, would save civilization, declared Dr. Norwood.

"We think we have got in England a very definite tradition of education which we do not want to see lost. It is an education which is based on religion and aims at character rather than intellectual performance, pure and simple."

Dr. Norwood declared Russia had thrown itself into materialism, danger in every industrialized society—and declared it to be the work of education throughout the English-speaking races to keep alive and dominant the older traditions.

MUSICAL FEATURE SET FOR VICTORIA

Blind Musicians Will Appear Here on Friday Evening

British Columbia's blind musicians, under the leadership of A. Mazanov, will shortly visit Victoria. This unique organization of sightless musicians will present a programme for the first time in Victoria.

They play from a repertoire of musical classics worthy of sighted musicians, and their rendering of such numbers as "Zampa" (overture), selections from "The Bohemian Girl," "Faust," "Marta," etc., are considered by musical critics to be highly commendable.

This is the only orchestra composed of blind musicians on the American continent, and it is perseverance and determination to overcome their physical handicap that has brought them to the fore in musical circles.

In addition to orchestral numbers the programme will be augmented by instrumental and vocal solos, all given by members of this organization. They have successfully played before large and appreciative audiences in Vancouver, North Vancouver, Burnaby and New Westminster. Their object in invading the capital city is to raise funds to carry on their musical studies and, while soliciting patronage in large numbers, they believe their efforts to entertain will be value for any admission paid to hear them.

This orchestra will hold their concert at the Empress Hotel, Friday, April 25, at 8 p.m., under the auspices of the Victoria Ladies' Musical Club.

There passed away in this city on April 21 Mrs. Amanda Donaldson, widow of the late Alexander Donaldson, aged seventy-five years, born in Petrolia, Ontario, and a well-known resident of this province for the past forty-five years, her late residence being at East Sooke. She leaves to mourn her loss one son, Alex, of East Sooke; one daughter, Mrs. William A. Clay, of this city; three grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Clacher, of Mary Island Lighthouse; also a brother, Mr. George Wolsey, of Detroit.

Mrs. Donaldson came to Victoria in 1878 over the Southern Pacific to San Francisco and then by boat here. The late Mr. Donaldson came in 1862. The family lived in Victoria until 1901, when they moved to East Sooke. Her husband, one son and one daughter have predeceased her, all being buried at Ross Bay Cemetery. The deceased was a sister of the late Mrs. A. J. Smith, a pioneer of Victoria. The remains are reposing at Hayward's B. C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Brothers' Funeral Home. Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., will conduct the service, after which interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

VICTORIANS TO SEE AMERICAN AIR FESTIVAL

Parade of Fifty Planes Marks Opening of Air Week Celebration in City of Seattle

MAYOR UNABLE TO BE PRESENT

Many Victorians will visit Seattle this week and participate in the ceremonies connected with Air Week, the first observance of the kind ever to be held in the American city.

Mayor Herbert Anscomb received an invitation from Mayor Frank Edwards, Seattle's chief executive, to witness the flying reels and, while appreciating the courtesy of the invitation, he finds it impossible to attend the festivities owing to civic engagements, which will occupy his time in Victoria this week.

The "air week" celebration in Seattle opened yesterday at noon, when fifty planes, representing almost every type produced in United States factories, took part in a huge aerial parade, which was followed by the dedication of the Boeing Field administration building. An exhibition of aerial manoeuvres by the United States Army Air Corps and spectacular night flying by the American naval planes will be two of the principal features of the "air week."

The aerial festivities are built around the slogan, "Help to make the Northwest air-minded," and unusual scenes will be witnessed at the Boeing Field during the week.

Mayor W. H. Makin, Alderman George Miller and Mr. William Templeton, civic airport superintendent, all of Vancouver, B.C., will be in Seattle tomorrow for the "air week" programme.

SAYS WOMAN IS SUPERIOR

Declaration that woman is superior, made by Dr. Elizabeth Sloan Chesser, prominent English physiologist, has started a renewal of the discussion in that country over the question of equality of the sexes. In addressing the British Social Hygiene Council, Dr. Chesser said: "Many women marry the men they choose and spend the rest of their lives trying to turn them into the men they want them to be. Boys should not be brought up to regard themselves superior to girls. Biologically woman is the superior creature."

2 OUTSTANDING ADVANTAGES

ALL THE MECHANISM IS ON TOP

THE CABINET IS ALL STEEL

Of the many exclusive advantages of the General Electric Refrigerator, two are especially vital . . . the hermetically-sealed, on-top mechanism and the all-steel warp-proof cabinet.

The mechanism in any electric refrigerator has but one purpose . . . to absorb heat from the interior of the cabinet. As warm air naturally rises it is logical that the motor . . . which itself generates heat . . . should be placed on top and thus allow all the heat to be dissipated above the cabinet. This is the main reason why the General Electric Refrigerator uses so little electrical current and is so economical in operation.

Because there is a constant upward movement of warm air the on-top mechanism is kept forever free from dust. And because the motor is sealed air-tight in a steel casing . . . with a permanent supply of oil . . . no dirt or moisture can ever get in.

Only the General Electric Refrigerator is built of all steel . . . as durable and warp-proof as a safe. Doors always fit tightly . . . preventing heat from leaking in or cold from seeping out . . . and making it easy and economical to maintain a temperature safely below the 50-degree danger point.

Several hundred thousand owners have learned that it costs less to own a General Electric. In over three years not one owner has had to spend a cent for service. The first cost has been the last cost. Come in today and see the many models . . . all equipped with an accessible freezing regulator.

New Session of Japanese House May Be Lively

(Associated Press)

TOKYO, April 21.—Japanese Parliament today opened for a three weeks' session which is expected to be a lively one.

Criticism by the opposition will concentrate on three main points, namely: The prevailing business depression, unemployment and what is described as the failure of the Government to insist on Japan's primary claims at the naval conference.

The assault on the Government's naval position will probably come from the left, the main opposition party in the House of Representatives, and influential Conservative elements in the House of Peers. It is not believed, however, that these attacks can sever the cabinet materially from the course of conciliation and agreement with the Anglo-Saxon powers already chartered by Premier Yuko Hamaguchi.

Farmers Hope to Retain $1 Paid By Wheat Pool

OTTAWA, April 21.—The general opinion among farmers in the West is that a price will yet be secured for wheat which will enable them to retain the $1 per bushel advanced by the Wheat Pool, said Fred C. Elford, Dominion poultry husbandryman and president of the World's Poultry Congress, on his return today from a trip to the Pacific Coast. "The only flavor of comment I heard," Mr. Elford remarked, "was that the Wheat Pool did exactly what any business man would do."

Spring Flower Show—Last day for entries, Tuesday, April 22.

The ground has been very dry in the Prairies owing to the small amount of frost, but rains in Alberta and Saskatchewan in the last few days have, he believed, come at just the right time to germinate the seed.

Mr. Elford saw evidence of a growing interest in mixed farming as provision against crop failures. After a shivering Good Friday, a Saturday that was even colder and an Easter Sunday that was not only cold but afforded a mixture of rain, sleet and snow, the thermometer dropped today almost to the freezing point in several parts of Southern England. An early reading at Crofton, for instance, showed the temperature at thirty-four degrees Fahrenheit.

England Shivers In Cold Weather Through Holiday

(Associated Press)

LONDON, April 21.—The Easter season of 1930 will be remembered in Great Britain as one of the coldest on record.

After a shivering Good Friday, a Saturday that was even colder and an Easter Sunday that was not only cold but afforded a mixture of rain, sleet and snow, the thermometer dropped today almost to the freezing point in several parts of Southern England. An early reading at Crofton, for instance, showed the temperature at thirty-four degrees Fahrenheit.

URGES NURSES TO CO-OPERATE

Miss Mary Campbell, President of B.C. Association, Reviews Year's Achievements

MANY VISITORS ATTEND SESSIONS

Urging the members, individually and collectively, to bend their energies to the solution of some of the very serious problems which confronted the nursing profession, Miss Mary Campbell, president, at the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association of British Columbia yesterday afternoon, reviewed some of the questions which she would like to see discussed, and at the same time gave a survey of the year's accomplishments, which testified to commendable co-operation. Among the achievements which won special commendation was that of the Vancouver Graduate Nurses' Association in securing the establishment of a ten-hour working day for private duty nurses.

Miss Campbell also noted that during the last two years British Columbia had advanced considerably in that it had formed social service agencies supplied with fully-trained workers, and during the past year a course in social service had been given at the University of British Columbia. The educational standards of social workers were high, and it was obvious from these tendencies that the intention was to keep them so.

EDUCATION SURVEY
Another matter which the profession in British Columbia was watching with close interest was the survey on nursing education now being conducted by Dr. Weir. Survey of training schools had been instituted in British Columbia in 1919, and members of the council had worked hard reviving the curriculum and requirements of the accredited training schools in an effort to bring them up to the best possible standard. The action of the Department of Education in making the school course in the province four instead of three years made necessary fresh adjustments for students intending to take up training as nurses.

The president commented on the opening of new and improved provincial headquarters at the Vancouver Block, Vancouver, where the accommodation was much better. The year's financial statement showed a balance on the right side. Among changes in the personnel of the executive there were mentioned the loss of Miss Ellis from the council, and Miss Stueh who had been replaced by Miss Fairley, superintendent of nurses, Vancouver General Hospital, and Miss McAllister, of the Royal Columbian Hospital, New Westminster. Regret was expressed at the death of a former president, Mrs. Johnson.

Among those entertained by the association during the year had been Miss Ann Goodrich, of the School of Nursing, Yale University; Miss Mary Beard, of the Rockefeller Institute; Miss Smellie, of the Victoria Order of Nurses central office, Ottawa, and Miss Woo, superintendent of a Chinese hospital, on her way home after attending the Montreal convention.

THE DELEGATES
Among the visiting delegates to the two days' annual meeting of the association are the following:

From Vancouver: Miss Mary P. Campbell, the president; Miss Helen Randall, registrar; Miss Helen Dutton, secretary; Miss Breese, Miss Margaret Kerr, Miss Grace Fairley, Miss L. McAllister, Miss O. Cotworth, Miss A. McAllister, Miss Lucy Pringle, Mrs. Ellis, Miss Margaret Duffield, Mrs. Margaret Harris, Miss Cameron, Miss Marion Neil, Miss Rose Nye, Miss Maud Neil, Miss Laura M. Le Gallia, Miss Dorothy Olmstead, Miss Charlotte Harkness, Miss Agnes Wyrzykowski, Miss Helen MacMillan, Miss Bertha Marsden, Miss Mabel Gray, Miss May Ewart, Miss E. E. Lumsden; from New Westminster: Miss Lillian McAllister, Miss E. H. Goulet; from Nanaimo: Miss Laura Bogue, Miss Muriel Upshall and Miss Norah Armstrong; and Miss A. Burgess (Powell River), Miss Christine Murray (Trail), Miss Gertrude Macmillan (White Rock), Miss Frances Elie (Edmonton), Miss E. Jackson (Duncan), Miss N. Henderson (Saanich), Miss N. Harvey (Saanich) and Miss E. Naden (Saanich). Sisters John Gabriel and Theresa Amable, of St. John's Hospital, Vancouver, are attending also.

The regular meeting of Ward 3 Liberal Association will be held at the Liberal headquarters, corner of Government and Broughton Streets, today at 8 p.m. All Libs are expected to attend a cordial invitation.

"Psychology of Attainment" will be the subject of a free lecture to-night at 8 o'clock by Professor Molloy at the Conservative Hall, Campbell Block, All invited.

Minister, Run-Down In Health, Gains 7 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

Rev. W. H. Taylor writes: "After a seven weeks' revival campaign I was entirely run down and losing flesh rapidly. I decided to give Ironized Yeast a three weeks' trial. After two weeks I found my strength returning and the tired feeling gone. In three weeks I had gained seven pounds and was myself again."

Imagine just three weeks to change from a "skinny" tired person to a strong, well-filled-out man or woman. Ugly hollows vanish. Brooding limbs become rosy and chubby. Tired feeling disappears. Blemished skin clears. Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant-tasting tablets. Safe for everybody. Never causes gas or bloating. No harmful drugs. Go to any druggist today and get a full-sized treatment of Ironized Yeast. BLAMES PARENTS FOR CRIME WAVE

Chicago Priest, Former Prison Chaplain, Says They Should Teach Respect for Law

Respect for the law and public officials on the part of parents and the inculcation of this attitude in the growing generation was urged by Rev. Peter Crumby, of Chicago, as a means of checking the present wave of lawlessness. Father Crumby, who has been in the city for some time, denied that his city was particularly noted for lawlessness, adding that "we know how to handle criminals."

Leads of respect for authority was the cause of the crime wave which Father Crumby said existed through the world. Alcoholism, ignorance, environment, poverty and physical debility were often accompanying circumstances of crime and not causes as often alleged, he held.

The speaker, a former prison chaplain, visualized for his audience how disrespect for authority taught children by parents. The father, he said, came home from his office after a day's work to be idolized by the children. One of his first acts was to read the daily newspaper, giving various running derogatory comments on Federal, provincial and civil governments. How can the growing child have respect for the law when the father describes all public officials as being grafters, including the policeman on the beat, Father Crumby queried. "If a child is brought up in a way to question even so far as to teach children respect for politicians, observing that he knew some fine men who were politicians."

SASKATOON, Sask., April 21.—Three children met death at 6:14 o'clock this evening when the Saskatoon-Winnipeg liner crashed into a truck, thirteen miles southeast of the city at a private crossing.

The dead: John Agar, fourteen, son of Mr. Leslie J. Agar, Saskatoon; George Agar, six, and Shirley Agar, six, and daughter of Mr. Stanley Agar, farmer living southeast of the city.

A four child escaped unhurt. The truck rolled back into a private crossing just as the children were about to get out to search for lost cows, and the liner crashed into it.

Article 17 of the signatories agree not to acquire or construct any submarine exceeding 20,000 tons displacement or with a gun above 5.1-inch calibre, subject to certain prescribed conditions, although they may retain such as they possess on April 1, 1936.

Article 18 lays down that certain specified vessels are exempt from limitation, these being surface vessels of between 500 and 2,000 tons displacement or with a gun above 5.1-inch calibre, subject to certain prescribed conditions, although they may retain such as they possess on April 1, 1936.

Article 19 prescribes certain restrictions to laying down tonnage for the different categories, while Article 20 deals with disposal and replacement of certain British and Japanese vessels, and grants Japan the right to anticipate replacement by laying down 19,300 tons of submarines of which not more than 12,000 tons are to be completed before December 31, 1936.

"SPECIAL VESSELS"

Certain vessels listed in the annex and described as "special vessels" are allowed under article twelve to be retained, their tonnage not being included in the tonnage schedule to limitations.

Of these fourteen are United States vessels, twenty-one are French, seven are British, seven Italian and eight are Japanese.

It is provided in the same article that any other vessel built, adapted or acquired for the purposes for which these special vessels are retained shall be charged against the tonnage of an appropriate combatant category, unless conforming to the exemptions listed in article eight. Japan is allowed to replace two mine layers in the special list, under conditions and prescriptions affecting her other special vessels.

Under article thirteen the contracting parties are allowed to retain stationary ships in nonsea-going condition. The foregoing articles constitute two of the five parts into which the treaty is divided, both parts to be subscribed to by the five great powers.

The third part comprises the agreement to which the United States, Great Britain and Japan alone are signatory.

Article 14, which leads the third part, declares that the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan agree to limit for duration of the treaty their combatant vessels other than capital ships, aircraft carriers, and the vessels exempted under Article 8.

DEFINITION OF CRUISERS

Cruisers are defined as "surface vessels of war other than capital ships or aircraft carriers, the standard displacement of which exceeds 1,800 tons or with a gun above 5.1-inch calibre."

The cruiser category is divided into two subcategories, mainly, those carrying guns above 6.1-inch calibre and to those with guns below that size respectively. Destroyers are defined as "surface vessels, the standard displacement of which does not exceed 1,800 tons with guns not above 6.1-inch calibre."

The total tonnage in the cruiser, destroyer and submarine categories which are not to be exceeded on December 31, 1936, are given in Article 16, thus:

In Article 16 thus:
Cruisers with guns above 6.1-inch calibre are:
The United States, 180,000 tons.
Great Britain, 148,000 tons.
Japan, 108,000 tons.
Cruisers with guns of 6.1 or less inch calibre:
The United States, 143,500 tons.
Great Britain, 192,000 tons.
Japan, 100,450 tons.
Destroyer tonnage are set at:
The United States, 150,000 tons.
Great Britain, 150,000 tons.
Japan, 105,400 tons.
Submarine tonnage of each power is set at 52,700 tons.
Vessels which cause the total tonnage of any category to exceed the foregoing are to be disposed of gradually before December 31, 1936. The maximum number of cruisers in the first sub-category in which the set may exceed 6.1-inch calibre shall be:
The United States, eighteen.
Great Britain, fifteen.
Japan, twelve.

TOTAL TONNAGE

In the destroyer category not more than sixteen per cent of the total tonnage is to be employed in vessels of over 1,800 tons. Destroyers completed or under construction April 1 this year in excess of this percentage may be retained, but no other destroyers existing on that date may be constructed or acquired until the reduction to sixteen per cent is effected. Not more than 25 per cent of the ments are stated to have been made for a Manitoba incorporated company to take over the development.

The permit was granted May 21, 1929, for a period of one year, by the Dominion Government, following a resolution of approval from the Manitoba Legislature. During the negotiations the syndicate was represented by Sir Reginald Brade, of London.

At the Manitoba Legislative Building today it was stated that a move had been made in which the Government was concerned regarding the priority permit granted to the British syndicate eleven months ago. A question in the Legislature shortly before the close of the last session elicited the answer that no further steps had been taken.

B.C. CAN USE MORE NURSES

Interesting Statement Made by Miss Randal at Graduate Nurses' Annual Meeting

LIBRARY PROVES GREAT ADVANTAGE

The demand for nurses in British Columbia is well in excess of the supply, Miss Helen Randal, R.N., of Vancouver, registrar and inspector of nurses' training schools in the province, noted in the course of her concise report given at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association yesterday.

Miss Randal reported that seven training schools in British Columbia were inspected each year, these having approximately 970 pupil nurses. She noted that five new nurses' homes were either in course of construction or had been built during the year, and also that during the decade since the establishment of hospital inspection practically every hospital in British Columbia had built or improved housing accommodation for their students.

In considering the ten years just passed one was, she thought, forced to recognize the nursing conditions of today, and urged that the profession, both collectively and individually, should rouse itself from its indifference and lack of responsibility with regard to the public generally and toward future students particularly.

SCHOOLS VISITED
Speaking further of the work of inspection, Miss Randal stated that

NEW METHOD

during inspection trips visits were regularly made to high schools and, in some instances, to parent-teacher organizations, with the idea of helping to bring to the attention of girl students and parents the opportunities of nursing as a vocation, and to impress on parents and children the requirements for the nursing profession, both educational and otherwise.

With the nursing survey in progress all over Canada it would seem that the most important work of the Nursing Association educationally should be propaganda directed to all the women of the province explaining fully that there could not be such a thing as an inexpensive standard training school, and that pressure be brought on all voters to obtain recognition of this fact and that the training schools for nurses be put on the same basis as the normal schools for pupil teachers. An effort should be made to have a more suitable curriculum than at present provided in high schools for girls intending to follow the profession of nursing. Each nurse in the profession must feel her responsibility, both for the success of the survey and the education of the public.

LIBRARY AVAILABLE
In her report as convener of the public health nursing committee, Miss E. G. Breese, R.N., Vancouver, at the morning session referred to the successful establishment of the open shelf traveling library for public health nurses, this having been made possible through the co-operation of the library commission. This was now available for all nurses throughout the province.

It was stated that the public health nursing committee would send a public health exhibit to the Canadian nurses' biennial meeting, Miss Duffield was appointed to look after this.

Also at the morning session the educational committee, convened by Miss Mabel Gray, Vancouver, considered the question of improvement of records, especially those experience records bearing on non-segregated or mixed wards.

A committee was formed, under the convener's chair, to go into the question of training schools and report to the next meeting of the education committee. A discussion took place among the members present, among those taking part being Miss Burgess, of Australia, and Sister John Gabriel, inspector of training schools of the Order of Providence throughout the Western provinces and states.

Various matters referred to the British Columbia Graduate Nurses' Association by the Canadian National Nurses' Association meeting at Regina, in June, were discussed. An invitation was extended by the Washington State Nurses' Association to attend its meeting at Bellingham on May 8, 9 and 10. Letters of regret were received on their inability to be present at the sessions now held at Victoria.

TODAY'S PROGRAMME
The programme for today includes joint meetings of three sections this afternoon; a drive and visit to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Malahat Beach, this morning, leaving at 8 o'clock; afternoon tea at the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital nurses' home as the guests of the Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Association; and an evening programme, which will include an address by Dr. A. R. Chisholm and an address by Dr. Russell Robertson. There will be some musical features also and after the formal part of the proceedings refreshments will be served by the staff of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The following will be the speakers at the joint meetings of three sections this afternoon: Miss Grace Fairley, R.N., of the nursing education committee, who will talk about "Present Day Demands on Schools of Nursing"; Miss Margaret Kerr, R.N., of the public health nursing committee, whose subject is "Here and There in Public Health," and Miss Ethel Thornley, R.N., of the private duty nursing committee.

The delegates to the meeting were yesterday afternoon entertained at tea at St. Joseph's Hospital, following a tour of inspection of the hospital and nurses' home, led by the Sister Superior.

Miss Lillian Christine Giving Address Today

Miss Lillian Christine, leading lady of the Gordon McLeod Players Company, which has been at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the past three months, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the Empress Hotel. Her subject will be "The Drama."

Introduced to the stage by Mr. George Bernard Shaw, Miss Christine has had an interesting theatrical career, for a time having been with Miss Horniman's repertory company at Manchester, and later appearing with Miss Marie Tempest in London, and with Sir John Martin Harvey in London and Canada.

The prisoner had been called to the bar and had informed the judge that owing to lack of funds he was not represented by counsel. "In that case," said the judge, "the state will provide a counsel for you. Sitting over there on the first bench are Mr. Smith, Mr. Tompkins and Mr. White, and there is another lawyer out in the hall. Whom do you want to represent you?"

The prisoner looked the three lawyers over very carefully and turning to the judge said: "If it is all the same to you, your honor, I think I'll take a chance on the fellow in the hall."

LARGE ORDERS OF CUT BLOOMS SOLD

Shipping Agent for Growers Sends 2,400,000 Daffodils to Prairies This Season

Mr. R. S. Twining, of Gordon Head, who has been acting as shipping agent for Vancouver Island daffodil growers, announced last night that about two hundred thousand dozen, or about 2,400,000 cut daffodils, had been shipped to the prairie provinces since the season commenced. The final shipment to be made from this section went forward last week and contained about seventy thousand dozen blooms, the largest single shipment of the present season.

The daffodil season is now over. Mr. Twining pointed out. With reference to the average price obtained for the daffodils, he stated that this would not be known until the returns were all in. He said, however, that there were altogether too many cut flowers going on the market, the consuming public could not absorb them all, and he recommended that bulb growing be given more attention by growers, as the market opportunities were far greater for bulbs than for cut flowers at all times.

OLD VAGRANTS DISAPPEAR
Old age pensions in England have eliminated the old vagrant, according to Commissioner Lamb, of the Salvation Army. The present type of wayfarer, he said recently, consists largely of ex-soldiers. Interviews with 1,000 men revealed that half were over forty years old, 64 per cent were ex-service men, and 97 per cent had never been in a casual ward before the war.

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!

GOOD YEAR

I'LL GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR TIRE MONEY

I'm in the happy position of having been chosen to sell... in your community... The World's Greatest Tires.

I specialize on this make—Goodyear—because they have proven themselves best in the only three possible tests of tire quality: 1. In the laboratory, 2. On test fleets for millions of miles, 3. For the many millions of miles of all-weather all-road driving on users' cars.

I recommend them to you because they are the only tires with the famous All-Weather Tread—the tread with traction in the center, where it belongs—and because they are the only tires made with Supertwist, the extra-elastic patented Goodyear cord which springs and recovers instead of breaking when your tire strikes a bump or a rough road.

Because I specialize I can carry a full stock which turns rapidly. Thus you save time; you get fresher stock, better value and low cost.

I'm in your community... my signs and my local advertising identify me. See me first when you next need tires.

A development company has induced nearly 4,000 families to leave Japan and settle on waste lands in Chosen.

This movie frock sketched here today thinks of Spring in terms of a green that is slightly more yellow in tone than jade. Attention is drawn to the importance of short sleeves by an interesting treatment of narrow bands with the idea repeated on the openwork neckline. Narrow tucks indicate the normal waistline on the frock that follows the latest development of the silhouette. Anyone would turn green to have such a frock.

Romance May End at Altar

THE ROMANCE of Raymond de Trafford, British aristocrat, and Alice Silverthorne, the former Countess de Janze, whose emotional career on the Continent reached its climax when she shot De Trafford and herself in the compartment of a French train, may have a happy ending. According to dispatches, De Trafford and the Countess are to be married shortly.

STEAM WASHER A MENACE
Introduction of a steam washer into the laundry of the workhouse at Londonderry, Ireland, would be against the interest of order and discipline, according to the workhouse master when the Board of Guardians offered such a machine recently. The master said that the forty able-bodied young women inmates now do the work, and the machine would "give them time for idling, smoking and card playing, and would cause trouble in the house and encourage further admissions."

Glyndre is said to have been used successfully in destroying weeds and cereal crops of Belgium during the last season.

OPENING CONCERT WAS SUCCESSFUL

Mr. W. H. Davies Directs Concert in Crider Memorial Hall, Featuring Youthful Talent

For the opening concert in the Crider Memorial Hall last evening, the director, Mr. W. H. Davies, favored youthful talent for the majority of the numbers making up the programme; and as the pleasure expressed by the audience is, after all, the only true endorsement of the fare offered, his choice of entertainers would appear to be fully justified. With the exception of a recitation by Mr. G. W. Hallett, a vocal solo by Mr. F. L. Jones, a vocal duet by Mrs. F. M. Shandley and Mr. J. Dunn and an illuminated club swinging exhibition by Mr. G. Whiteoak, the programme was thoroughly juvenile. This did not detract from the excellence of the items rendered. Two choruses by the boys of the choir showed careful training, and were greatly enjoyed, while the several solos with encores, by boys of the same group were definitely rendered. Particularly pleasing were the violin solos played by Master George Tate. Applauding insistently, the audience brought him back several times, although he was down on the programme in two places. A clever bit of character portrayal was presented by Miss Lillian Young, who recited "Mr. Drummond's 'Johnny Courteau'."

The programme for last evening's concert was as follows: Chorus a, "A Country Song," Bowley; b, "Come Let Us All This Day," Bach; Reformed Episcopal Church choristers; vocal solo, "Willow Song," Phillips; Master Raymond Ballard; violin solo, "Sonata E Major," Handel; Master George Tate; vocal solo, "Slumber Song," Stanford; Master Clarence Kitchen; recitation, "The Cattle Thief," Pauline Johnson; Mr. G. W. Hallett; pianoforte duet, "Hungarian Dance No. 6," Brahms; Messrs. Desmond and Brian Burdon-Murphy; vocal solo, "Nirvana," Adams; Mr. F. L. Jones; violin solo, "Norwegian Dance," Greig; Master George Tate; vocal duet, "I passed by Your Window," Mrs. F. M. Shandley and Mr. J. Dunn; recitation, "Johnny Courteau," Drummond; Miss Lillian Young; vocal solo, "Kullarney," Balfe; Master Douglas; illuminated club swinging; Mr. G. Whiteoak; "God Save the King."

EAT WHAT YOU LIKE.

What you like is generally good for you—as long as you have one main article of diet that gives the needed nourishment and corrects any errors your over-civilized palate may make.

Eat crisp, sparkling RYVITA, and let your taste say what other foods you shall eat. RYVITA, made from pure, crushed whole-grain rye, is bread in the true sense of the word—the genuine stuff of life. RYVITA seems to give the nourishment little and big bodies need.

RYVITA nourishes you and balances your diet. If something you've eaten tends to make you too fat, RYVITA helps your system to get rid of the surplus. If your other foods fail at some point, and so you are under-nourished, RYVITA makes up the deficiency.

Spread thickly with golden butter; with cheese, marmalade or jam, and a glass of milk, RYVITA is the perfect meal.

Constipation, indigestion, obesity, and malnutrition are practically unknown wherever RYVITA is eaten as daily bread. To you, who enjoy perfect health, a few loaves of this delicious, crunchy RYVITA should form a part of at least one meal every day. Better health, better looks, will result. Every member of your family should give it the test.

Your grocer stocks RYVITA—the original crispbread in the green and yellow 1-lb. and 4-lb. cartons. Buy a packet to-day and keep the whole family fit. (C.R.)

C.P.R. CONSTABLE SEVERELY INJURED

VANCOUVER, April 21.—James Urquhart, forty-five, C.P.R. constable, suffered the loss of both legs above the ankle, severe cuts about the head and body and internal injuries as the result of being run over by a switch engine on the C.P.R. right-of-way at Columbia Avenue shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. He was removed to St. Paul's Hospital in an unconscious condition.

The Romantic Prince

By RAFAEL SABATINI

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance and Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

The Grand Master of Burgundy was well aware of the dangerous game to which he set his hand the moment the Duke's back was turned. His first move was to send Sire de Chavagny to Johanna with a request that she transmit to him the written reprieve which Rhynsault had given her for Philip on the morning of the execution and copies of which had been fixed to her memorial. He assigned as a reason for this action a hope that the Duke might reopen the case if the actual reprieve were presented to him.

Rhynsault's trial was to be held on the day after his arrest in the great hall of the palace. Thither, in response to a summons, came Mistress Johanna, attended by her servants and followed in the train by the friendly witnesses from Middleburg. She came in awe; almost with reluctance. There was an ordeal ahead of her far sterner than any for which she had been prepared, in that she must now meet the eyes of Count Anthony with the knowledge that she was informed of all the grounds of her bitter, shameful plight.

Came a flourish of trumpets such as usually announced the advent of the Duke, and all heads were bared in the great hall.

Through the doorway came four archers of the guard; after these came a herald bearing the sword of state, and then in a robe of cloth of gold, such as the Duke wore on these occasions, a flat bonnet of scarlet velvet on his head, pale and stern, the Grand Master of Burgundy merged.

"Bring in the Sire, Claude de Rhynsault," he commanded.

They brought him in, his bearing shorn of much of its habitual magnificence.

"Read him the indictment," the Grand Master commanded.

Home Again Though Long Supposed Dead

By RAFAEL SABATINI

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance and Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

A clerk discharged that duty. It was not quite what the Sire de Rhynsault had expected, and there was a quality in it that shook the assurance which hitherto had fully sustained him. The alarm from which hitherto he had been immune.

There was no question, as he had so confidently supposed, of rejudging the case of Philip Danvers by establishing Danvers' innocence, impeaching his judge for careless administration of justice, and for excluding evidence which, only as available then as now, should certainly have been admitted. The indictment was framed upon quite other lines. Danvers' guilt was assumed, accepted on the man's own confession without any question of it might have been extorted. Indeed the assumption of his guilt was actually made the cornerstone of the present charge. The Sire de Rhynsault's offense was made to lie in the fact that he had subverted to his own ends the Duke's justice, by reprieving a man whose guilt of treason he accounted fully established by the evidence upon which he had sentenced him to death, since otherwise it was inconceivable that he could so have sentenced him. To this was added the comparatively minor charge of having neglected to proceed as by law required to the confiscation of the property of a man convicted of treason and by that neglect having defrauded the Duke's revenues.

As the clerk finished the reading and was resuming his seat, Rhynsault bowed out his answer.

"This is a judged affair," he protested angrily. "It is judged and closed and finished by the Duke's Highness in person. And I challenge your authority to reopen it. You are abusing your office, sir, in the Duke's absence."

Very calmly the Grand Master answered him: "My Lord of Rhynsault, it was not my intention to come to that, although come to it in the end I must. But if you rest your defence upon it, I am content to proceed along the line you are opening."

"I do rest my defence upon it. His Highness has pronounced in this matter, and it is closed."

"A matter that is closed by a false statement may be reopened at any time when the truth becomes apparent. The Duke's Highness, as you correctly state, closed this matter upon receiving your clear denial that you had granted this reprieve. A denial backed by your knightly word. You will remember that."

"I do remember it. I am relieved that Your Lordship does the same. I ask myself, this being so, why you presume to molest me in this manner and to drag me here to be questioned again."

"It is because, sir, since you uttered that denial to the Duke, certain further knowledge has reached me which makes it clear that by that denial you abused the Duke's confidence and his trust in the knightly word which you had pledged. It is upon this further knowledge that the present indictment has been drawn. In this I proceed as I must suppose the Duke himself would proceed had he remained to learn what I have learned."

"Had he remained, you would never have dared."

"Shall we keep to the indictment?" He was of a most exquisite courtesy in meeting the deliberate rudeness of the accused. "Do you

"Not merely signed, sir; it is written in your hand. Let him see it for himself, M. de Chavagny."

The captain brought it to him, and held it under his eyes. This was the document indeed. He took the only possible line. "That is not my hand!" he blurted. "An impudent forgery, vindictively prepared to..."

"Messire de Rhynsault!" So impressive was the Grand Master's voice that the Lorrainer fell silent to listen. "Is it worth your while to perjure yourself further? There will be men in plenty in Middleburg who know your hand. There are two within this hall at this instant, who can swear to it. In addition, I could bring an officer of your own to swear that not only is this reprieve in your own hand, but that the very circumstances in which it was presented to him, which will hardly leave a doubt as to how it came to be issued by you. Is it worth while, Sir, to bring you into increased contempt?"

Rhynsault, knowing that he was beaten, admitted that he had written the reprieve.

The Grand Master then addressed the judges. "Sirs, the Sire de Rhynsault is to be commended, at least, in that he put it upon us to retract this trial beyond what is strictly necessary. You have heard his admission that he uttered this reprieve upon a man whom he had convicted of high treason, and in view of his admission, it is for you, who are men of law, to say whether the indictment charging the Sire de Rhynsault with high treason has been justified. I will limit myself with indicating the point of law upon which the indictment has been based. It is this: I think—if I am wrong, sir, it is for you to set me right—it runs that he who comforts, shelters, nourishes, aids, or sustains, however lightly, a man convicted by a competent tribunal of the odious crime of high treason, is himself guilty of that odious crime, and is to be accounted the accomplice of the man convicted and to suffer in the same degree."

He paused, and looked to right and left of him. "Is this interpretation of the law correct?"

"It is, Grand Master," each answered him in turn.

"It would appear, then, to be beyond dispute that a man who misuses the powers of his gubernatorial office to grant a reprieve to a convicted traitor must be held to have given aid to that traitor in the highest possible degree, and therefore to have rendered himself the accomplice and thus, himself become guilty of high treason. I say only that it would appear so, because after all, it is for you, who are to speak the law, to say whether in effect this is so or not. I leave what I now invite you to consider."

Their answer was unanimously that the law was clear, and the Grand Master's application of it to the particular case was unanswerable.

The Sire de Rhynsault's face became the color of lead, and the sweat stood in beads upon his brow, for all that it was chill within that hall. Then he perceived the doom descending upon him, and was too appalled to speak, too appalled even to curse himself for the readiness with which he had acknowledged that reprieve. He should have denied, and denied, and so made delays.

"Claude de Rhynsault," said the Grand Master, addressing him now as a felon as addressed without the courtesy of any title, "you have heard the finding of the judges, which convicts you of the high treason for which you have been indicted. High treason is not an offense that has ever been regarded at any time or in any country with leniency, for of all the offenses it is the most dangerous to the state and the most contagious. Therefore, it is the duty of those who sit in the seat of justice to expiate it effectively wherever it met. To an offense already in itself the greatest, you have added in this case a singular and unusual heinousness. You have abused the powers with which the Duke's Highness invested you, and defied the sacred trust imposed upon you for purposes of your own. He paused for a full moment for that phrase to sink home. Then he continued: "What those purposes may have been, we do not now inquire, since the knowledge could not possibly extenuate your offense, and its further aggravation is not necessary to the ends of justice. But in your heart you will know them, Rhynsault, and whatever they may have been, I can but urge you now to seek the clemency of God, for the clemency of man is by the law denied you."

He reached for the hour-glass, the upper bulb of which was empty. "To seek that Divine clemency, you shall have one hour. When these sands are run, the sentence which I am now to pass upon you shall be executed. You are to be taken to the great square, and there in public your spurs shall be struck off and you shall be degraded from your knightly rank, and after that your head shall be severed from your body."

The Grand Master reversed the hour-glass and set it down upon the little table. Then he stood up to depart. At last the awed silence was broken by the voice of Rhynsault, hoarse, and clamant, the man himself restrained by the guards, his voice rose almost to a scream. He threatened them with the vengeance of the Duke, if they dared to execute that sentence; he de-

Bill's dead—pass the hat!

So poor Bill is dead! I'm downright sorry. He was one of the best of fellows—a great spender and one of the biggest-hearted men that ever lived. Sure I'll chip in.

"How much have you got there—$242? My! that won't go far with the widow and children. Only $242! Poor old Bill!"

Your name may not be Bill—but if you dropped off tomorrow, would your family be provided for? Or, would some kind friend have to pass the hat?

You don't care what happens after you're gone? Yes, you do. You don't want to leave your loved ones to the tender care of friends or relatives who probably have troubles of their own. And you don't need to.

If you are now in good health and will agree to deposit a portion of your savings for a few years we will undertake to pay a regular monthly income to your widow—an income which will commence at your death and continue as long as she lives.

Should you not die—the deposits will form an excellent, profit earning investment for yourself. Why not get further information about this splendid arrangement? Use the coupon. No obligation.

At The Playhouses

"YOUNG EAGLES" IS FILM OF AIR

Rogers' Latest Romance Is Attractive Feature at the Dominion Theatre Today

You've long waited to see Charles (Buddy) Rogers. Paramount's handsome young star, in something really fine and far above the ordinary. Wait no longer! "Young Eagles" is at the Dominion Theatre today and tomorrow, and it's the best thing Rogers has done since his memorable role in "Wings." Indeed, "Young Eagles" has everything that "Wings" had, and, in addition, it's all talking.

The story centres around Buddy's love affair with a girl spy, whether a friendly spy or an enemy spy. Buddy doesn't know, and around Buddy's strange friendship for the man he fights bitterly in the air. "Young Eagles" has the spirit of the laughing, dashing, daring airman in it—it immortalizes the knight-errantry of the sky-fighters.

Paul Lukas, as Buddy's friendly enemy, is superb. Jean Arthur, as Stuart Erwin, the funny "Aunt" of "Sweetie," has an important comic role, and a group of swagging young airmen lend enchantment to a very delightful picture.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Stage
Royal—The Gordon McLeod Players present "The Man from Toronto."

On the Screen

Playhouse—George Jessel in "Love, Live and Laugh."
Crystal Garden—Swimming and dancing.

heard of in America. Dupont was at once acclaimed a new directorial find, and he has since lived up to his reputation. Several big productions have since been turned out by him, including "Moulin Rouge," but his latest, and by far the best thing he has done, is "Piccadilly," the feature attraction now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The star is Gilda Gray.

PLAYHOUSE "Love, Live and Laugh," Fox Movie-tone all-talking drama, starring George Jessel, had a highly successful opening at the Playhouse Theatre last night. Jessel makes a powerful bid for fame on the big screen, and, judging from the reaction of the opening night's audience, he was little short of a sensation. "Love, Live and Laugh," while classified as a drama, has some highly amusing comedy situations cleverly interwoven, and the skilful hand of William K. Howard, the director, is seen in working out this difficult story to a satisfactory conclusion.

VARIETY A brilliant comedy-drama success, "Toby on the Spot," scored a spectacular hit at the Variety Theatre last night when it was presented for the first time in Victoria by the Toby Leitch Players. This absorbing drama of modern New York life teems with exciting situations and scintillates with wit and humor. The popular Variety company has never been more enthusiastically applauded on the opening night of a new play. Raymond Toby Leitch was riotously funny. Rounds of laughter greeted his sparkling quips and sallies throughout the evening. In addition to the really hilarious comedy, and the exciting sequence of dramatic situations, the play is distinguished by a very charming love romance. Leone Weber is the central feminine character, giving a delightful interpretation of the role of a New York shop girl.

GORDON McLEOD TO HELP RED CROSS

The Gordon McLeod Players have very generously offered to help the Red Cross Society by giving to the British Columbia provincial division of the Canadian Red Cross Society part of the receipts of their performances on Wednesday afternoon and evening next, April 23. This is St. George's Day, when the company will be playing the popular comedy, "The Man from Toronto," and the Red Cross hope that their friends will make a special effort to attend either the matinee or evening productions.

HILARIOUS FARCE DRAWS TO CAPITOL

Comedy Captivates Audience With George Sidney and Vera Gordon in Star Features

If there is anything funnier than "Cohen and Kelly" it is another "Cohen and Kelly."

The famous Irish-Jewish comedy team trooped into the Capitol Theatre yesterday on their fourth annual fun-making excursion. This time they appear as "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland"—and what they have in store in the way of mirth-provocation isn't worth mentioning.

George Sidney, Charlie Murray, Vera Gordon and Kate Price are together again in this latest of Universal's uproarious "Cohen and Kelly" series. All are seasoned actors of stage and screen, singularly gifted for comedy portraiture. Much of the credit for the literally howling success of the picture must be given to William James Craft for his splendid direction. Known as one of the foremost comedy directors in films, he had already shown his mettle in the "Cohens and Kellys" series. In their Scottish adventure he has surpassed himself. Prominent in the cast are E. J. Ratcliffe, William Colvin and Lloyd Whitlock. All turn in flawless performance. John McDermott wrote the story of "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland," and Albert DeMond supplied the dialogue.

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"DER FRIESCHUTZ"

One of the chief sources of complaint against the austere grandees who rule the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York City is their marked partiality toward those works composed by Italians. This preference for Italian operas above those of any other language is not new. More than a century ago it was a moot question in Germany, so much so that native composers could never secure a hearing. The first one to overcome this prejudice was Carl Maria Von Weber. He lived in an age when even the highly cultured German society disdained operas in their native tongue.

Weber was the son of an itinerant musician who tyrannized his son into following his profession. It was the younger Weber's indomitable spirit and idealism that eventually spurred the composer onward to the uncultivated field of German opera. In 1810 he wrote "Der Frieschutz," a collection of tales by Apel, which was adapted from an old German folk tale. Viewed from a composing perspective, Weber's masterpiece story could be transformed into an opera. He consulted his friend Dusch, who was a member of that circle of friends who gathered around Weber. For seven years Dusch toyed with the scheme until he abandoned it.

In 1817 Weber took up the subject again, this time with Friedrich Kind, a vain, conceited poetaster. Kind gathered up the threads of Apel's tale and placed the action immediately following the Thirty Years' War, thus avoiding possible difficulties with the censor. To the credit of the pompous Kind let it be recorded that in his own original way he practically recreated "Der Frieschutz." His version revealed the pact that certain individuals, according to legend, were sworn to make with a sinister figure who stalks through the story as "The

CARL MARIA VON WEBER
Composer of "Der Frieschutz"

Black Huntsman," in virtue of which they received in return for their souls seven magic bullets, warranted to bring down everything that walked or flew. Six bullets obeyed the will of their owner, but the destination of the seventh remained with "The Black Huntsman."

Kind furnished his share of the bargain within a week, but Weber consumed three years composing the music. The result has been one of the most significant operas in the history of music. It was titled by the librettist as "The Trial Shot," later "The Huntsman's Bird," but when it was actually slated for production Count Bruhl, the proprietor of the Berlin Opera House, changed the title to "Der Frieschutz" at the last moment. Translated into English, this title is meaningless, and so the German designation is always retained.

The opera was duly presented and it so far outdistanced the prevailing Italian operas that full honors were unashamedly rendered to Weber. It demonstrated beyond doubt that the German school of composers had little to learn from their Italian brothers. Needless to state "Der Frieschutz" has been accepted as one of the standard operas of the world, and it is constantly revived. All music lovers will recognize its overture as a masterpiece of symphonic harmony.

WARM PRAISE FOR MISS TISDALL

Costuming in Players' Club Presentation Will Win Admiration of Audience

Press comment on "Friend Hannah," the fifteenth annual presentation of the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia, has been unusually gratifying this year, from the point of view of all those concerned with its production. Actors and actresses, costumes and scenery all received their tribute, and it would seem that the Advisory Board, who chose the play, are to be especially congratulated, since seldom before has the Spring play appealed so universally or met with such unanimously favorable criticism. The Vancouver Daily Province expresses itself as follows: "A drama in a manner sufficiently charming, beautifully produced, well acted, it will offend no one and give many a pleasant entertainment. 'Friend Hannah' is distinguished by two performances which will be remembered after the play is forgotten. These were by two girls, one of whom was playing her first important part for the club. She had the role of 'Friend Hannah,' and to it she brought youth, vivacity, beauty, and best of all, intelligence. Her name is Sheila Tisdall. Her acting was always expressive yet restrained; her reading of lines clear and distinct. The other player was Miss Ann Ferguson, who has given proof of her ability in previous character roles, but as Betty Trott, Friend Hannah's maid, she brought the very air of the English countryside with her in a hearty interpretation. A word should be said for the costumes and scenery; both added to the color of the production. The dull grey gowns of the Quaker women were in marked contrast to the brilliant hunting coats worn by the gay gallants of the Georgian court. The hero appeared in one act in a magnificent white satin costume, glittering at neck and wrist, with long lace ruffles, while the demure Quakeress had donned a dainty pink taffeta gown with wide skirts, a pretty complement for her white wig. A truly regal figure was the hero's mother, whose purple velvet gown swept the floor in the approved eighteenth century style."

"Friend Hannah" will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre for one night only on Monday, April 28, under the auspices of the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

"UKELELE SOUL" CHARGE HIT

When Rev. Leggate said at the recent National Free Church Council Assembly at Nottingham, England, that a pleasure-mad world is producing "ukelele souls," he would arouse, defiance and defiance of the clergyman have been heard in all parts of the British Isles. One remark by Rev. Leggate that was strongly challenged: "We have bribed the young and coddled them until they have become paupers on our charge for almost everything. Cinemas and radio make it easy for them to live dangerously or romantically by proxy."

STEAMSHIP HEAD ON COAST SURVEY

Mr. E. D. Kingsley to Leave on Waltheby for Blubber Bay Plant

VANCOUVER, April 21.—Mr. E. D. Kingsley, of New York, head of large quarry and steamship interests of British Columbia, has arrived here for an inspection of company properties. He will spend some weeks here.

President of the Kingsley Navigation Co., Ltd., which recently increased its shipping strength on this coast by purchase of three large steamers, he is also president of the Pacific Lime Co. Ltd.

In company with Mr. R. F. Mathew, managing-director for Pacific Lime and Kingsley Navigation, Mr. Kingsley will leave for the company works at Blubber Bay, Texada Island, on board the yacht Waltheby. He expressed marked satisfaction at the progress his companies are making, and expects an early increase in business all along the Pacific Coast.

NOT A WAGER

He was tearing down the street as fast as his legs would carry him, with the stout innkeeper tolling in the rear.

"Stop him! Stop him!" shouted the innkeeper.

A policeman made an effort, to do so, but the man said something to the constable, who allowed him to proceed.

"Why didn't you stop him?" demanded the innkeeper, on reaching the policeman.

"He told me you were racing him for six drinks," explained the man in blue.

"So I was," said the innkeeper furiously; "he hasn't paid for 'em!"

CHEAP MINING SHOULD RESULT

NORTHERN PACIFIC COLLIERIES HOLDS MINING RIGHTS FROM LAND COMPANY

Many Inquiries Are Being Received for Port Hardy Property

Reports received from Port Hardy regarding drilling operations now being conducted by the Mitchell Diamond Drilling Company, Limited, for the Northern Vancouver Island Land Company, Limited, of Victoria, B.C., indicate that the company's property contains extensive and valuable coal measures, according to Mr. P. J. Sinnott, solicitor for the company. The Northern Pacific Collieries, Ltd., has purchased outright the coal rights on the properties at Port Hardy, the surface rights of which are owned by the Northern Vancouver Island Land Company, Limited, a Victoria company, of which the president is Mr. William Moore, of the Moore-Whitington Lumber Company, Ltd. In addition to these rights the Northern Pacific Collieries, Ltd., is holding under option approximately a further 2,200 acres. Harbor conditions are such that working on the southeast boundary of the company's property at Port Hardy and putting in a shaft as near as possible to the harbor of Hardy Bay, coal will be mined at a price far below that obtaining at any other point on the coast.

As a result of the activities of the Northern Pacific Collieries, Limited, and the construction programme of the Northern Vancouver Island Land Company, Limited, owners of the townsite, acreage and timber tracts, there is a steady flow of inquiries at the offices of the company for accommodation for prospective newcomers in the district. Present owners of hotel and other properties who have been approached by intending buyers have raised the prices at which they have been holding their properties, as a result of developments now proceeding at Port Hardy.

Northern Vancouver Island is due for a period of great activity, according to Mr. Sinnott, who gives as a reason for this opinion the operation of the new coal mining industry, the approaching production and shipment of metals from the Coast Copper Mine, and the new pulp and paper mill which it is mooted will be erected at Port Hardy by American interests.

Residents of Port Hardy are agitating for the construction of a road through to Kains Lake. They point out that the large tract of splendid agricultural land at this point cannot be settled until a means of egress and ingress is constructed by the Provincial Government. Some years ago there were some fifty settlers in this district, but owing to the absence of a road they were unable to make a success of the settlement. The Kains Lake land, it is stated, is a splendid tract available for the settler on Vancouver Island, and close to markets at Port Hardy, Port Alice and Alert Bay for dairy and vegetable produce, but without a road it is impossible for the settler to market the produce of the district. The distance from the Island Highway to Kains Lake is only a few miles, and the residents point out that once such a road is constructed, the settlement at this point will be more attractive than districts farther afield in the interior of the province.

PRINCE OF WALES TO LAUNCH SHIP

Empress of Britain to Have Royal Send-Off on the Clyde in June

MONTREAL, April 21.—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales has graciously consented to act as sponsor for the Empress of Britain, the new Canadian Pacific Railway liner, which will be launched on June 11.

The announcement was made by Mr. E. W. Beatty today. "We are greatly gratified," said Mr. Beatty, "to learn that His Royal Highness has promised to find time to go up to the Clyde to sponsor our new ship. The Prince of Wales is one of the busiest men in Europe, and I take it that he has been led to do so out of his love for the country and his keen interest in all things Canadian. His action is a Royal compliment to Canada as much as to the Canadian Pacific."

"We are sparing no effort to make the Empress of Britain worthy of the Royal association. Her advent on the St. Lawrence route will open a new epoch in Canadian transatlantic traffic. Her speed will make possible a crossing of five days, and she will greatly shorten the journey between Europe and Canada and the Middle and Western States. Accommodation will be the most luxurious afloat, her public rooms being decorated by such famous artists as Sir Charles Allen, Mr. Frank Brangwyn, Mr. W. Heath Robinson, Sir John Lavery and Mr. Edmund Dulac. Outstanding features are a sports deck, full width of the ship, with full-sized lawn tennis court, a square racquet court, Turkish and electric baths and a marble swimming pool. The bathrooms will be a new feature in that they are designed on the same lines as those of the Royal York Hotel.

The lounge and ballrooms will each have a complete stage for theatrical productions. The New York lawyer looked up at his friend dashed into the office. "Hullo, what's the matter?" he said.

"Tal o' mine just been run in for stealing whisky!" explained the other excitedly. "Will you take the case?"

"Sure—is it going cheap?"

MCLEOD PLAYERS AGAIN TRIUMPH

"The Man From Toronto" Gets Splendid Reception From a Large Audience

Rudyard Kipling, in "Stalky & Co.," referred to Devon as "that county of easy kisses"; and this description has been rigidly adhered to in Douglas Murray's comedy, "The Man From Toronto," which was played to a large and delighted audience when the Gordon McLeod English Players made a welcome return to the Royal Victoria Theatre last night.

Kisses, in fact, are given and taken with such prodigality that one cannot feel sorry for the few old characters who are not included in these wholesale osculations.

"The Man From Toronto" shows the McLeod Players at their very best, which is very high praise indeed. The play suits them and they suit the play, which is not so much a "screaming farce" as a really humorous sketch of something which is quite within the bounds of possibility in real life, and which contrives to send the audience away with a clean taste in the mouth, owing to a complete absence of any jarring note.

THE STORY OF THE PLAY Mrs. Calhorne, an attractive young widow, is living in her house at Teignmouth, when she is informed by her guardian-solicitor that a former millionaire admirer has left her half his fortune, provided she marries his nephew, who lives on a ranch in Ontario. The aforesaid nephew arrives, like Joshua's spies, to reconnoitre the position, and Mrs. Calhorne immediately disguises herself as her own parlor maid, in order to make her own observations.

Upon this rather flimsy foundation the author has built up a cleverly contrived structure of wit, making tremendous use of his dialogue, as well as of his dialogue. With this material in their capable hands, the McLeod Players do not allow the fun to flag for an instant, and the performance reflects the greatest credit on Mr. McLeod, who produced this week's play.

HONORS EASY It would not be far from the truth to say that honors were easy as regarded the acting. Miss Lillian Christine and Mr. Claude Bailey played the leads; the former extracting the last ounce of humor from a long and rather arduous part, and the latter acting with a quiet sincerity which sat very well on his shoulders.

Mr. Roland Gillett again fell squarely on his feet last night. His part might well have been written for him. Miss Margaret St. Barbe West made a perfectly delightful study, half demure and half coquettish, of the maid who comes in for her fair share of the kissing. Miss Ann Farrer was again saddled with an unsympathetic part, and again made the most of it. It would be a welcome change to see her handle something which would give her a better chance to her undoubted talent. Miss Peggie Burnand was charming as the younger sister of the man from Toronto. Miss Maude Blay made an all too brief appearance in one of the most amazing headresses that has ever been seen upon the stage of the Royal, and Miss Betty Jennings had a small part of which she made the most.

Particular mention should be made of the work of Mr. James McGrath as the pompous and bewildered old uncle. He was a remarkably finished performance, played with real unselfishness and an admirable attention to detail.

Boat Traffic Heavy During Holiday Time Easter traffic both to and from Vancouver and Seattle was exceptionally heavy this year, according to B.C. Coast Service officials. On Sunday St. Princess Maquinnas assisted the regular night boat to Vancouver; yesterday St. Princess Louise made a special sailing to Vancouver at 5:30 o'clock in the evening and St. Princess Adelaide arrived from Vancouver at 10:30 o'clock. Assisting the Adelaide with returning Mainland passengers, St. Chermer left here at midnight.

Toronto Lakesides Put Up Game Fight But Are Outclassed

Grads Take Second Game by 41-27 Score, and Series by 88-44—Champions Will Hold Underwood Trophy for Another Year

EDMONTON, Alta., April 21.—Although the Toronto Lakesides put up a far more stubborn opposition against the Grads here tonight in the second game of the Dominion championship series, they still fell considerably short and had to admit defeat by the score of 41-27. This gives the Grads the round by 88 to 44, and doubling the score would seem to be proof enough that Coach J. P. Page's collection of hoopers are worthy champions of Canada and worthy holders of the Underwood trophy.

Showing the greatest determination to keep the score against them as low as possible, the Lakesides stuck closely to their checks all the way through, but, as in the first game, they began to show signs of struggling shortly after the commencement of the second half. But they played good basketball and had the Grads worried for a time.

There was only a point between the teams at the end of the first period, the figures reading 4-3 for the Grads. At half time the Lakesides were no farther behind than 17-10.

After the restart both teams battled determinedly and evenly, and at the end of the ten minutes all that separated them was five points. The Westerners were on the heavy end of a count that read 26-21. Condition and class began to tell in favor of the Grads in the final frame, and they ran in fifteen points while holding the opposition to an even half dozen.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Canary Islands were named for Dogs, Not Birds—"Dog" is "canis" in Latin. According to Pliny it was King Juba II of the Mauritania who named the Islands "Canarias" for the "large number of dogs which he found roaming there." The bird which is indigenous to the Islands was named after them. (A canary bird is literally "a bird of the Dog Islands.")

Martin Van Buren, the first President born in the United States—Martin Van Buren, born December 5, 1782, is the first President of the United States who was born in the United States. All his predecessors in this high office were born prior to the Declaration of Independence, in what was then a "British dependency."

Red Birds and Witches Will Meet for Honors

Local and Mainland Women Basketball Champions Clash Tomorrow Evening for Provincial Senior "B" Title

The curtain will be lowered on the local basketball season tomorrow evening at the Victoria High School Gymnasium when the Red Birds, city and island women's champions, meet the Vancouver Witches, winners of the Mainland title, for the British Columbia senior "B" championship. In the preliminary game the Duo-Dads will look horns with the High School lads in what should turn out to be a fine exhibition. The first game will commence at 8 o'clock and the feature attraction will get under way shortly before 9 o'clock. Tickets are now on sale at the Y.M.C.A., Peden Brothers, Victoria Sporting Goods and Wengler's Jewellery Store, or from members of the Red Birds team.

The Witches will be over in full force and will trot out their strongest starting lineup in an effort to return to Vancouver with the title. McTaggart Gowan, former holder of the Canadian badminton title, is at the helm of the visitors and is rated as one of the finest coaches in the province.

In capturing the Vancouver and district honors the Witches established a fine record, only losing two defeats. Later they played off with the Commercial and the Sunday School League champions and again demonstrated their ability by defeating the leaders of both divisions. Judging by reports the visiting quietitude will have the edge on the locals in height and weight but the Red Birds hope to nullify these advantages by their speed and lightning passes.

LOCAL PERSONNEL

Some remarks on the Red Birds lineup follow:
Torrle Rennie—Speedy forward, formerly with the High School and Adanacs. Rather light but fast and a real fine shot.
Berta Peden—Three seasons with the Red Birds. Full of vim and action. A dangerous shot at all times and from any angle.
Kathy Welburn—Formerly starred with her sister, Grace, on the Christ Church team in the Sunday School League. Out of the game for several years, but coming back strong. Can play any forward position.
Mary Wilson—Young recruit from the South Park School. Has the makings of a real clever forward. Good ball handler and a neat shot.
Jessie Edward—Reliable centre player, formerly with the Victoria College squad. Knows the High School floor well and turns in great games on it. Plays her position well and unselfishly.

Primo Carnera Is Now Barred From California Rings

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—The final chapter of Primo Carnera's flit dour in California was ended today when the State Athletic Commission unanimously adopted all of the recommendations of Commissioner Charles F. Traugott in connection with the Carnera-Leon Chevalier bout in Oakland, April 14. As a result, the 276-pound heavyweight and his manager, Frank Churchill, of Los Angeles, Carnera's representative in California, Robert Lago, of San Francisco, and Robert Perry, of Hollywood, Carnera's second, were barred from appearing in California rings, their licences having been taken up. Four men who make their homes in this state also were punished by being indefinitely suspended. They are Frank Churchill, of Los Angeles, Carnera's representative in California; Robert Lago, of San Francisco; and Robert Perry, of Hollywood. Carnera scored a technical knockout over the negro in the sixth round, when Chevalier's second, Ripley, tossed in the towel. Due to the investigation the purse of Carnera of $13,239, and Chevalier's $1,500 were held up, but this money will be paid back at once.

BOWLING KING

Jimmy Smith, noted bowler, has held the world's match championship for sixteen years and has seven perfect "300" games to his credit.

Jackie Fields Puts Grace Out In Third Round

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, knocked out Meyer Grace, of Philadelphia, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. The title was not at stake. Grace was down twice in the third round before he was counted out. A short fight to the chin put him down first for a nine count. He got up groggy, but soon was floored again with another right and he was counted out. Until the third, sports writers gave Grace a slight edge over the champion because of the many blows he landed on Fields' face and head. The fight reminded fans of the Fields-Mahan melee here some months ago, when Mahan carried the fight to Fields in the first round only to be knocked out in the second. Both fighters weighed in over the welterweight limit. Fields at 148 and Grace at 150.

C. I. MACKENZIE BEATS WALLACE IN CLUB MEET

Plays Steady Golf to Eliminate Defending Champion in Semis of Macaulay Point Golf Club

WILLARD WILLS DEFEATS J. TODD

As a result of semi-final matches played on Sunday, Captain C. I. Mackenzie and Willard Wills will meet on May 4 for the championship of the Macaulay Point Golf Club. Mackenzie defeated Norman Wallace, last year's holder of the championship, on the eighteenth green, while Wills was carried to the twentieth hole before he disposed of J. Todd, a new member of the Macaulay Club, and a most promising player.

Chief interest on Sunday centred in the struggle between Wallace and Mackenzie. On the day's play they were closely matched, both negotiating the course in seventy-five strokes. Mackenzie, formerly a prominent player in the Colwood Club, was accurate with all his clubs and especially good with his putting. During most of the game Mackenzie held a slight advantage. At the sixteenth he was two up, but Wallace won the next two holes to even the match. Mackenzie, however, was not to be denied, and won the eighteenth and the match with a par three.

In the other semi-final Wills was pushed all the way to win. It was nip and tuck, and it was only bad putting which prevented Todd carrying the match further.

Complete results follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

Semi-Finals
W. Wills defeated J. Todd at the twentieth hole.
Capt. C. I. Mackenzie defeated Norman Wallace, 1 up.

First Flight (Final)

J. Burden defeated W. S. Morris, 5 and 4.

Comox Golf Club Holds Tournament

COMOX, April 21.—An enthusiastic golf meeting was held on the Comox course during the Easter holidays when members and guests of the Elk Hotel took part in several competitions. The prize winners were as follows: Lowest net score, gentleman, Mr. H. M. Archibald, of Victoria; lady, Mrs. D. A. Hogg, of Victoria. Eccentric competition, gentleman, Mr. M. H. Graham, of Cumberland; lady, Mrs. A. R. Green, of Victoria.

The tournament competition, etc., will be played today.

ENGLISH TENNIS ACE WINS FROM HELEN JACOBS

BEAULIEU, France, April 21.—Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking woman tennis star, was defeated in the finals today by Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite, of England. The scores were 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

The victory was won more easily than the scores indicate. The California player has appeared unable to strike her real stride during her campaign on the Riviera and her performance today was mediocre.

Mrs. Satterthwaite, a steady player, with considerable tournament experience, took full advantage of her opponent's mistakes and misplays.

Captures Crown by 10 and 8 Win Over Ken Black in Final

New Champion Was 3 Up at Conclusion of First Eighteen Holes—Opponent Had Previously Accounted for Bon Stein, Seattle

VANCOUVER, April 21.—Freddie Wood, of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club, won the amateur golf championship of British Columbia by defeating the youthful Ken Black, from the Vancouver Shaughnessy Club, 10 and 8, in the thirty-six-hole final today.

Wood, who also led the medal round on Friday, was three up on Black at the conclusion of the morning round, and in the afternoon proceeded to make a runaway of the match after the first two holes had been halved.

Black, who yesterday eliminated one of the tournament favorites, Bon Stein, of Seattle, in the semi-finals, lost all control of his putter today. It was his perfect putting that gave him victory over Stein, but today that magic touch had disappeared. His work on the greens was especially erratic during the morning round, while his entire game went to pieces in the afternoon. He was over par figures on each of the five last holes of the match, all of which were won by Wood. He finished up thirteen strokes over perfect figures.

Wood concluded the match one stroke over par. He shot three the short third Wood went four up with a par three. The fourth was halved at four. It was at the fifth green that Wood definitely halted his boyish rival with a break and a putt that would have discouraged a more seasoned player. Both were within twenty feet of the pin in two and Black made a splendid putt that hung on the lip of the cup. Wood was stymied, but his twenty-foot putt curved around Black's ball and holed out for a birdie three. On the next hole Black put his second into a trap while Wood sank another birdie three to go seven up. Wood's par four won the eighth and, where the match ended 10 and 8. Black's putter was absolutely useless on those last few holes.

The largest gallery ever to follow an amateur match in British Columbia scrambled for advantageous positions along the fairways and greens during the ten holes of the afternoon round. The crowd was variously estimated at from 1,000 to 1,500 persons.

Kenneth A. McLennan, president of the British Columbia Golf Association, presented the prizes to the winners on the green in front of the clubhouse an hour after the conclusion of the match.

Freddie Wood received, besides his name engraved on the trophy, a wrist watch and a huge silver vase, the medal prize. Ken Black received a mantle clock, the runner-up award. R. L. Kennedy, who defeated Alfred Bull, of Jersey, 3 and 2 in the final of the first flight, was presented with a wrist watch.

MORRISON ELIMINATED

VANCOUVER, April 21.—An unfortunate break, just when he appeared to have his match with Bon Stein, Seattle, ace, well in hand, brought about the defeat of Bob Morrison, youthful Victoria linksman, in the morning round yesterday.

With the elimination of Harold Lineham earlier in the play, visiting Victorians had pinned their hopes on the flashy Morrison to carry the title across the Gulf and his defeat was a bitter disappointment.

Morrison was flashing superb golf up to the time of his mishap on the eighth hole. He had played the great Stein stroke for stroke and it required par to do it. After two pars Stein came up a birdie, but the lanky Victorian duplicated the effort and went on to take a two-hole lead going to the eighth tee. Both Morrison and Stein then teed off with Morrison several yards past the effort of Stein. The latter's mashie shot found a bunker, and with Morrison having an easy mashie-nick shot for the pin, the Islander looked a cinch to go into the second nine, three up.

STEIN CUTS LEAD

But his pitch was a bit strong and the ball bounded off the green into the shrubbery. Morrison required two strokes to get out and eventually lost the hole, his lead being cut to one up instead of three under an ordinary run of play.

Form that moment on the capital city star could not do anything right. The break obviously upset him for his game fell away, and Stein refusing to crack the match went to the Sound city veteran, 2 and 1.

WOOD WINS EASILY

"Was Bon, I guess I'm not the worst putter in the world," Morrison laughingly remarked as he sympathized with the player who had eliminated him following Stein's defeat, practically at his own hands.

LONDON, April 21.—Battle for supremacy in the various divisions of the English soccer football league went on again today when a number of return engagements were played. Sheffield Wednesday, leading the First Division, got a jolt when the runners-up, Derby County, playing at home, defeated them by four goals to one. The Wednesday's lead was cut but not obliterated.

The clubs met in a long, hot, and thrilling interlude in the balance of the game. Stinson and Weston scored for Northampton, Armfield and Hemingway replied, and during the interlude in the balance of the game, Stinson and Weston scored for Northampton, Armfield and Hemingway replied, and during the interlude in the balance of the game, Stinson and Weston scored for Northampton, Armfield and Hemingway replied.

British Columbia Lawn Bowlers Win Against Oakland
OAKLAND, Cal., April 21.—The British Columbia lawn bowling team, headed by Captain R. C. Spurling, defeated the Oakland team in a rink match here today by a score of 173 to 102. In the elimination contest, two British Columbia rinks reached the final, and in the match for the championship Moore defeated Lyon by a margin of 25 to 15. The results in the team competition were:

Spurling, B.C., 24; Sweetman, Oakland, 21.
Kirkland, B.C., 18; Allen, Oakland, 15.
Hall, B.C., 24; Arnold, Oakland, 15.

HAD OFF DAY
The Wednesday had an off day, and were beaten despite the fact that Derby County were playing several reserves. Barclay, at inside right, did the hat trick for Derby and proved himself a clever dribbler and difficult to stop. Derby took command at the start, Robson scoring in the tenth minute. Barclay had Derby's second after a fine dribble. He followed it up with another, secured on a side-foot drive from a pass by Bedford. Waiting for the whistle to blow instead of playing the man with the ball, Derby allowed Hooper to score easily for the Wednesday. Their lone goal. Barclay got his third goal while he converted a pass along the ground from Bedford.

Blackpool brought off a splendid holiday double and gave double value for their victory against Oldham Athletic today. They won only after a hard struggle against Oldham, who were handicapped by the absence of their international goalkeeper, Hacking, as well as Gray and Littlewood. The opening half, although goalless, was packed with thrills. Oxberry hit the Oldham crossbar with a smashing drive, and the same goal had a narrow escape when the reserve goalie, Moss, misfielded the ball going just outside the post. Then Mason missed a fine chance for Oldham. After the interval, Blackpool were definitely superior, but New failed before an open goal, while Hampson missed on a penalty kick. Hampson scored with a fine shot and Oxberry got Blackpool's second goal from a pass by Hampson. Oldham missed a thrilling rally, Worral scoring near time. The match was watched by the record crowd of 43,000.

At West Bromwich the Albion matched their dash against the stylish methods of Tottenham Hotspurs and just came out on top. There was a sensational start, Cookson scoring for the Albion. Then Finch put the ball through his own goal to equalize. After a couple of smart movements, Wood scored on a magnificent shot for the Albion, and then Reddish, the Spurs back, miskicked and gave the West Bromwich team another goal. Oxberry netted for Tottenham immediately after resumption and a stern fight ensued. Harper put the Spurs on even terms again, but Glidden scored what proved the winning goal near the finish.

In the match between Exeter City and Northampton Town, the teams were a long time settling down, but finally Hemingway netted after a

LACKED TEAM PLAY
What the Arsenal lacked in team play they made up in fighting spirit and staged a brilliant recovery after being two goals behind at the interval. The match turned out to be a field day for Halliday, the former Sunderland player, who scored four goals. Although facing the wind at the outset Arsenal were better than Leicester City. They were cleverer, quicker on the ball and shot better. In the third minute Jack headed in a centre from Bastin, but it was adjudged offside. Except for Moore's dangerous attack, when the Arsenal goalie cleared rather luckily, the Londoners did all the attacking in the first ten minutes. Wright, the Leicester goalie, however, making a number of good saves from Halliday and Jack Leicester were continually difficulties as eventually Halliday scored. Hadcock equalized immediately. Lewis punching out when the ball had gone over the line. Leachhead gave Leicester the lead on a hard shot, and then Heacock goalied from an oblique angle. Early in the second half Arsenal scored three times in ten minutes through Bastin, Halliday, the latter getting a couple to complete his hat trick. Following a spell in mid-field play, in which Leicester showed to advantage, Halliday increased his personal tally and Arsenal led by five goals to three. Hine replied for Leicester and Bastin put in Arsenal's sixth. In a thrilling finish Chandler equalized and left the teams deadlocked at the finish.

SAVING teeth is so much more important than saving a few cents per tube, that Forhan's would rather be a fine dentifrice than a cheap one.

This dentifrice serves as a double safeguard—you automatically firm up your gums and help them to keep in good health, at the time you clean your teeth with Forhan's—35¢ and 60¢—a few cents a tube more than the ordinary toothpaste, and exceedingly well worth it. Forhan's Limited, Montreal.

THE LADIES' CRUSADE

Almost everything has happened in international sport except this—no American girl or American woman has ever won the women's golf championship of Great Britain. This championship, so far, has been the one unscalable rampart in sport.

Travis and Sweetser have won the men's British golf amateur. Jones, Hagen and others have won the British open. Vardon and Hay have won the United States open. Hilton won the United States amateur. Dorothy Campbell, now Mrs. Hurd, came across to win the women's United States championship. So did Miss Dodd or Miss Ravenscroft. But although Misses Marion Hollins, Edith Cummings, Alexa Stirling, Glenna Collett and many others have tried to take the British women's golf championship by storm, they have always failed. France has been able to break through when Miss Wethered or Miss Leitch was resting, but no golfing niece of Uncle Sam could get that far.

THE NEXT MOBILIZATION
So the next invasion, headed by Miss Glenna Collett, the women's golf champion of the United States, takes on added interest.

Miss Maureen Orcutt has already sailed, but Miss Collett will hold her mobilization today at Knollwood, in Westchester, and give the big gathering one more working round before embarking Tuesday for one more try.

There will be a team match next week, two days after arrival, with ten picked British selections, but the main party will take place from May 12 to May 17 at Formby, England, a rugged seaside rest that will be a new golfing experience for many of the invaders.

While Joyce Wethered, the brilliant English star, will not report to defend her title, there are still eight or ten British women who will have to be reckoned with, not forgetting Miss Molly Gourlay, the captain of the British team. Horton Smith, for example, thinks their ten best golfers a trifle stronger than their ten best, although Miss Wethered is the only one any expert could name to outrank Miss Collett, who recently proved that her game was still on edge by winning the North and South from a strong field.

Glenna Collett, one of the best of all the women golfers, has found Joyce Wethered too much for her in her last two starts. In their last thirty-six-hole meeting a year ago at St. Andrew's, Miss Collett went out in 34 to stand 6 up, but still she could not beat back the brilliant counter charge of the British star.

The British have seen their tennis stars wiped out at Wimbledon. They have watched their Phil Scotts with much depression. They have seen Jones and Hagen take away their open. They saw Sweetser win at Muirfield after they had surrounded and captured Bobby Jones. But they have yet to see any feminine golfer from the United States win this one cup, which so far they have defended with rare skill and courage.

THE AMERICAN SQUAD
This should be the strongest squad of women golfers the United States ever sent abroad. There will be about sixteen and only five of them will be missing. The best chance to win belongs to Glenna Collett. In the first place Miss Collett has won the United States title four times. In the second place this will be her fourth invasion. In the third place it took Joyce Wethered to stop her on two occasions, and Joyce Wethered is rated as the finest woman golfer that ever played—a better golfer than her brother, Roger, who is captain of the British Walker Cup team.

Outside of the United States champion, four of the strongest entries will be Maureen Orcutt, Helen Hicks, Virginia Van Wie and Edith Quier.

This will be the first British test for Helen Hicks, the young Long Island star who is on her way to a championship. Miss Hicks is now Canadian champion, and she is also winner of the first seventy-two-hole medal test held for women in this country. First invasions have rarely

Glasgow Rangers Scheduled to Play Here on June 9

TORONTO, April 21.—Upon learning that Arsenal, of the English League, First Division, had definitely cancelled their proposed visit to the United States, those in charge of the tour of the Glasgow Rangers, Scottish soccer champions and holders of the Scottish Cup, rearranged that team's schedule to embrace several games in the United States. The revised itinerary is as follows: The Rangers being scheduled to arrive at Montreal on May 18 or 19, and in Toronto May 20 or 21; Hamilton, May 22; New York, May 25; Fall River, May 30; Montreal, May 31; Winnipeg, June 3; Vancouver, June 7; Victoria, June 9; Calgary, June 11; Chicago, June 14; Detroit, June 15; Toronto June 18; Montreal June 21; New York, June 22.

made good in golf, but this young long hitting disc may prove to be an exception. She has a fine golfing temperament and by nature is a high class competitor.

HITTING THE BALL
Who is the longest hitter in the group? Miss Collett, Orcutt and Hicks can all belt the ball for astounding distances, but for a steady average Miss Collett is still a trifle longer than any of the others. She won't hit up to Bobby and a lot of others, but she will outlast many a golfer who can't back this invasion, with Joyce Wethered away from the firing line of Formby, it may be a long time before the lonesome is caged again.

MISS Collett, Hicks, Van Wie and Orcutt are four of the finest golfers we have, while Miss Quier and one or two others are not far away. If the British can roll back this invasion, with Joyce Wethered away from the firing line of Formby, it may be a long time before the lonesome is caged again.

There are few golfers who transfer their weight as effectively as Miss Collett. She comes to the tip of the club and the ball is there to hit against when the hands whip the club head on its way, which happens in the important part of the swing. If that left side isn't ready to support the down swing something of an annoying nature is sure to happen.

This will be the first British invasion on the part of Mrs. Hill, another fine golfer; Miss Van Wie, Miss Hicks and Miss Quier. But they are all good match play golfers who must be reckoned with, even over the strange conditions that will confront them at Formby, a championship test near Hoylake, just outside of Liverpool. It is rugged golf country and it calls for hitting.

Even without Miss Wethered the British have at least ten high-class golfers ready, so the war should be an even thing with no advantage to either side. But it will be the best chance an American girl has yet had to bring the last uncaptured trophy home.

Though playing against the wind, Rochdale were nearly always on top in the final half, Hartlepool getting their second goal during a plucky rally through Cape's header. In the last ten minutes Tippet got his sixth goal and Brown also had another one.

FIDEL LA BARBA DEFEATS TAYLOR

Former Flyweight Champion Displays Class—Comes Back to Win After Being Floored Twice

CHICAGO, Ill., April 21.—After narrowly escaping a knockout in the first two rounds, Fidel La Barba, of Los Angeles, challenger for the featherweight championship, came back to win a close decision over Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute Terror, in ten thrilling rounds in the Coliseum tonight.

La Barba, whose increasing weight forced him to give up the flyweight title, displayed championship class by picking himself off the floor to win the verdict of the judges and referee.

He was floored for an eight count at the start of the first round, and was knocked staggering across the ring with another fight hander in the second round, but each time due to his splendid defensive skill, he frustrated Taylor's attempts to finish him.

It was Jack Dempsey's first successful promotional enterprise with net gate receipts of $25,000 and the attendance of 7,000. Taylor weighed 125 and La Barba hitting the beam at 124.

Elizabeth Ryan Is Partnered With Helen Wills-Moody

NEW YORK, April 21.—Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, now living in England, will be the doubles partner of Helen Wills-Moody in both the French and British tennis championships.

Helen Wills teamed with Miss Ryan to win the British women's doubles championship in 1927 and they often have played together. Mrs. Moody considers Miss Ryan one of the best, if not the best, women's doubles player. Miss Ryan won the Wimbledon doubles title six times, once with Miss Wills, once in 1926, with Mary K. Browne, and four times, 1920-21-22-23, with Suzanne Lenglen. With Eleanor Goss she won the United States women's doubles title in 1926.

Mrs. Moody will sail for Europe aboard the Bergengaria tomorrow.

NEW WESTMINSTER EXHIBITION THREATENED BY COMBINATION OF EVENTS

Carried Through in Tents Last Year After Serious Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER, April 21.—It looks as if the New Westminster Provincial Exhibition, one of the historic organizations in the former capital of British Columbia, is shortly to pass out of existence. At a meeting of the Royal Agricultural and Industrial Society held on Thursday evening it was decided to "carry on" for the time being, in the hopes that something would turn up which would allow the directors to re-establish the affair in the royal city. Little enthusiasm was displayed when the motion carried, and it was generally agreed that a crisis had arisen which would be nigh impossible to surmount.

ISSUE FORCED
A fire which swept the exhibition section of Queen's Park in July of last year is primarily responsible for the present situation. In September the fair directors took a daring chance of staging an exhibition in tents. Aided by the presence of Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Stanley Baldwin government, the association came out on the right side financially, but not sufficiently large to warrant another such event this year. One rainy day during Fair Week would have meant a deficit.

Amalgamation plans, leading to the Vancouver and New Westminster fair boards merging their interests and establishing a big exhibition park in Burnaby, preferably at Burnaby Lake, were under way at the time of the big fire, although a somewhat cold attitude to this idea was being displayed by some of the Vancouver directors. The fire proved a serious handicap to these negotiations. The Vancouver Fair Board pointed out that their plant at Hastings Park was intact and in good shape. They even went so far as to suggest that New Westminster sink their aspirations and join forces with a combined exhibition in the terminal city.

ITS ASPIRATIONS
The New Westminster Provincial Exhibition is looked upon as being more than a mere civic institution. In years past it has been the meeting place of thousands of residents from all parts of British Columbia. The exhibitors have come from all sections of Canada and the Western States. Established in 1870, the exhibition has been held each year since that time with the exception of the war years, when it was decided to concentrate efforts leading to a successful conclusion of the big struggle.

In 1919, with the aid of a substantial building grant from the Dominion Government, the Royal City event was revived and given a wonderful impetus by the presence of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who officially opened the fair before the largest gathering in its history of sixty years. Since that time it has met with varied fortune. The prize list was increased, the number of exhibitors was added to each year, but for some reason or other, the financial results were unsatisfactory. In 1927 it was faced with a liability of $16,720 with assets of only $10,000. This paper was carried by several business men and eventually the society was the late William H. Ladner, a pioneer resident of the Delta and a near relative of Alex. Paterson, former M.P.P. for that district.

SPAIN'S KING IS LOYALLY GREETED

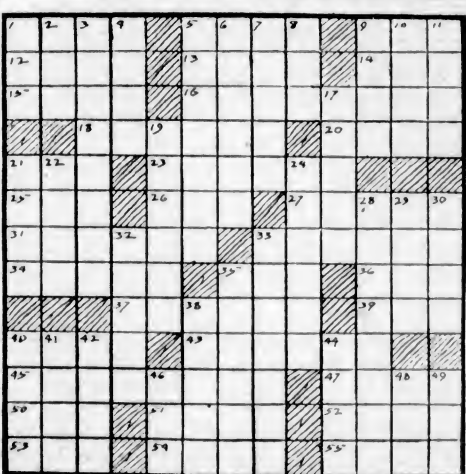

Great Demonstration in Madrid Acclaims Monarch and Gives Support to Crown

MADRID, April 21.—Monarchical supporters braved disagreeable weather with enthusiasm yesterday when thousands flocked to the new bull ring here to demonstrate their loyalty to the King. The bull ring, seating 26,000, was jammed, many thousands standing in the arena itself.

The streets in the vicinity bore many conspicuous signs saying, "Long Live the King!" "Long Live Spain!" Civilian guards and police were stationed near the bull ring in force to prevent disorders. Jose Gutierrez Rave, one of the meeting's organizers, in a speech, said King Alfonso had been the victim of unfair attacks. He described the ruler as sympathetic toward all his subjects, popular abroad and "more Spanish than all other Spaniards."

Morillo Diaz, Labor representative, said a great proportion of Spain's workers want the monarchy to continue.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Avoid Gas-Indigestion
Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity, and many stomachs do secrete "too much acid," causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-dinner pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bismarck's Malted Food or Tablets is ideal for this purpose. Just a little water neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents souring, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion is easy and painless. It will do all this for you on money back. Reliable druggists everywhere sell Bismarck's Malted Food with this guarantee.

Why Some Ducks Were Left Behind

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

These menfolk seem to think that night is all that's needed to make right.

Mrs. Quack had told Peter Rabbit that oil was the cause of some of her troubles on her long journey up from the Sunny South. Peter didn't even know what oil was, but of course he was curious to know all about it.

"It is something that is on the water—something man puts there," explained Mrs. Quack. "It doesn't mix with the water, but floats on top. If a Duck, or other bird that swims on the water, doesn't see it and gets into trouble, it is dreadful. Yes, sir, it is dreadful."

"Why is it dreadful?" persisted Peter.

"Because," replied Mrs. Quack, "it gets our feathers all matted together. Birds often get in such a condition that they cannot fly. We had to leave two of our flock behind us two days ago." Mrs. Quack said this sadly.

"Do you mean you left them behind because they couldn't fly?" Peter asked.

"That's it," replied Mrs. Quack. "They couldn't fly and they were sick besides. I think the oil made them sick. It gets worse and worse."

"But where does it all come from?" cried Peter.

"I don't know where it all comes from," replied Mrs. Quack, "but a lot of it comes from big ships. Of course you don't know what a big ship is. It is a great big boat that ever so many men can live on at one time. And it sails on the ocean. You don't know what the ocean is? It is a great body of water and the water is salt."

"I shouldn't like that," said Peter. "Oh, that's all right," replied Mrs. Quack, "when you can fly to fresh water when you are thirsty and when you are hungry. There are some ducks that live on fish and get all their food in the salt water. Of course, we Mallard Ducks get our food in fresh water. But when we are journeying we do sometimes spend some of our time on salt water; especially where the salt water runs away up into the land, as it does in many places. It was in one of these places that we found the oil two days ago. Two of the flock had become separated from us and got into the oil before they

"Why don't they wash the oil off?" Peter asked.

"Oil will not wash off," replied Mrs. Quack. "There is no way we can get it off. Once a bird has it in his or her feathers, it is there to stay. It is awful! And all the time it is getting worse. Man seems to be using more and more oil. It isn't always on salt water that we find it. Sometimes we find it on the big rivers. Man has emptied it into the big rivers. It not only makes danger for us, but it kills the fish and it kills the water plants. The longer I live, the more I wonder that I'm alive. These two-legged creatures called men are the most selfish creatures in all the Great World. They seldom think of anybody but themselves."

"Farmer Brown's Boy thinks of other people," spoke up Peter.

"That's so," replied Mrs. Quack. "I wish there were more like him. I wonder if he'll bring us any corn. I certainly would like a good dinner of corn."

NEW YORK HAS NOT THE TRACK

ATHLETIC PLUM WILL THERE-FORE GO TO BOSTON
OR CHICAGO

Meet Between British Empire and United States Will Take Place on August 27

NEW YORK, April 18.—New York would be the scene of the international dual meet between the British Empire and the United States on August 27 if New York had a suitable quarter-mile track. But New York hasn't a track, and so Boston or Chicago will get this athletic plum, the outstanding track and field event of 1930.

Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, in announcing the tentative date of the meet, declared that all arrangements except the selection of the venue had been completed. The British A.A.U. and the Canadian A.A.U. had accepted the United States' invitation and the suggested date, August 27, is agreeable to all. The British team has arranged to sail for home on the 29th.

NO "BIG TIME" PATH
All members of the foreign relations committee of the A.A.U. favored New York as the site of the meet, but unfortunately for New York track fans there isn't a "big time" cinderpath in the neighborhood. Some big meets have been held in the Yankee Stadium from time to time, but the stadium with a five-lap track, presents an awkward arrangement for a meet in which a quarter-mile track is desirable. Moreover, the stadium officials would not permit the infield to be dug up for a steeplechase water jump, nor would they permit the hammer throwers and javelin throwers to play on the turf.

Meanwhile Boston, through Harvard University, the New England A.A.U. and Joseph B. McCabe, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has expressed a willingness to play host to the international meet. Chicago, through the Central A.A.U., the South Park Commission and Avery Brundage, president of the A.A.U., is also bidding for the meet. It will be held either in Harvard Stadium or in Soldier Field, Chicago.

The dates of the National A.A.U. championships, usually held around July 4, will be moved back to within a fortnight of the international meet, the nationals to serve as a tryout for the United States team. The Pittsburgh Stadium has already been named as the site for the national junior and senior games and decathlon, a three-day affair. The international meet will follow shortly after the close of the British Empire games at Hamilton, Ont., on August 23.

ON TEAM BASIS

The United States and the British Empire have met in international meets on two occasions, after the Paris Olympics in 1924 and after the Amsterdam Olympics in 1928. The United States won both times through preponderance of field event strength. The programme for this meet is arranged entirely on a team basis, that is, all the flat and hurdle races are relays from the 400-yard relay to the four-mile relay, and all the field events are decided on aggregate performances of three competitors on a side. One point is awarded for a victory in each event. This is the programme for all international meets held in England.

That this programme should also prevail for the first Anglo-American meet in this side was a surprise to some, but Secretary Ferris points out that this schedule of events was approved before the 1924 Olympics, and both sides agreed to the arrangement. It is a novel programme that loses no appeal through the absence of sprints and individual races. Forty thousand spectators at Stamford Bridge in 1928 thought well of the meet, and in the course of the relays there were returned a 47-5 quarter, a 1:33 half-mile and a 4:14 mile, by Morgan Taylor, Phil Edwards and Cyril Ellis. That was the day George Bald, Morgan Taylor, Ray Barbute and Emerson Spencer created the world's record of 3:14-5 for the mile relay. Lee Barnes vaulted 13 feet 9 inches for one British record, and Ed Hamm, the Georgia Tech star, jumped 25 feet 1 inch for another British record.

"Bobby," asked teacher, "define fortitude."
"Ability to stand," replied Bobby quickly.

"Now use it in a sentence," teacher asked.

Bobby thought for a while. "The man showed great fortitude when the mule kicked him," he answered.
